*If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or, being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;*

*If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same:
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build'em with worn-out tools;*

The Graduating Class of 1985

The Seniors

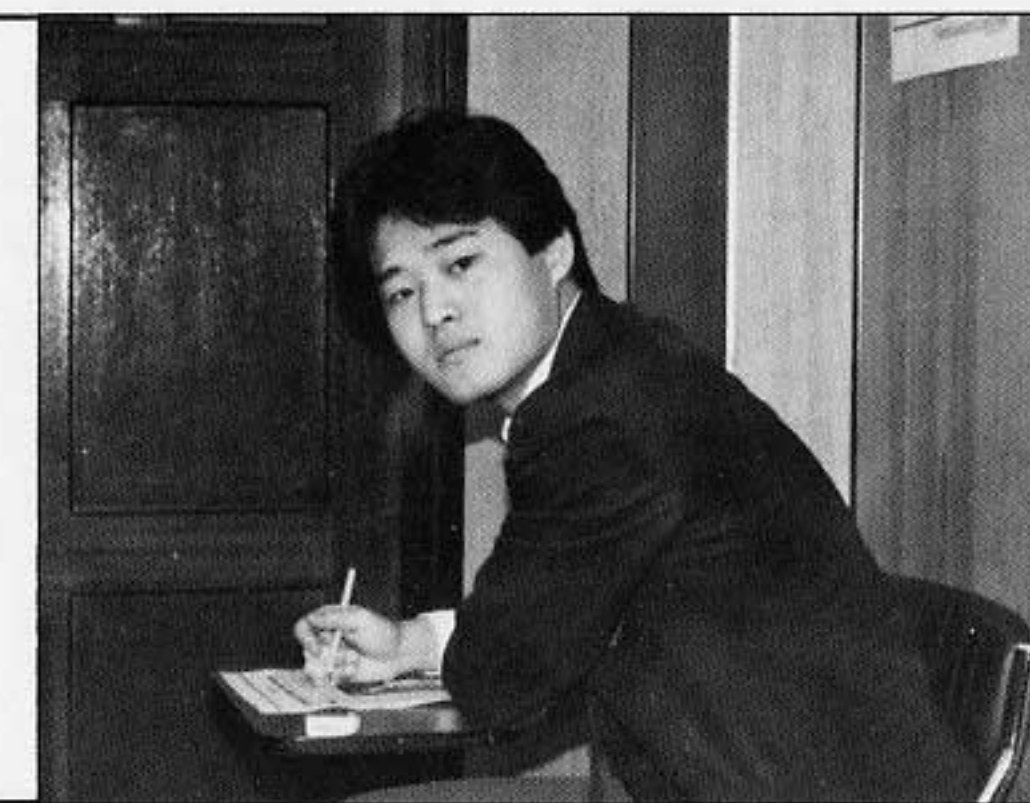

"Professor" was the nickname of our studious Yong Suk. The class recognized he was the personification of a true SJIS gentleman. His most salient trait was being modest. Sensibility, determination, and stoicism probably best describe his character. Golf and music are only two of the numerous hobbies he has.

One of the two surf-lovers is Pyong Choru. His courageousness was often perceived by people he associated with. Being markedly athletic, he participated in the Cross-Country team and did exceptionally well. Muscular and swift on an unfurling billow, the ocean current that lifts him symbolizes his will to overcome every obstacle he encounters. Assertiveness and sincerity are his trademarks.

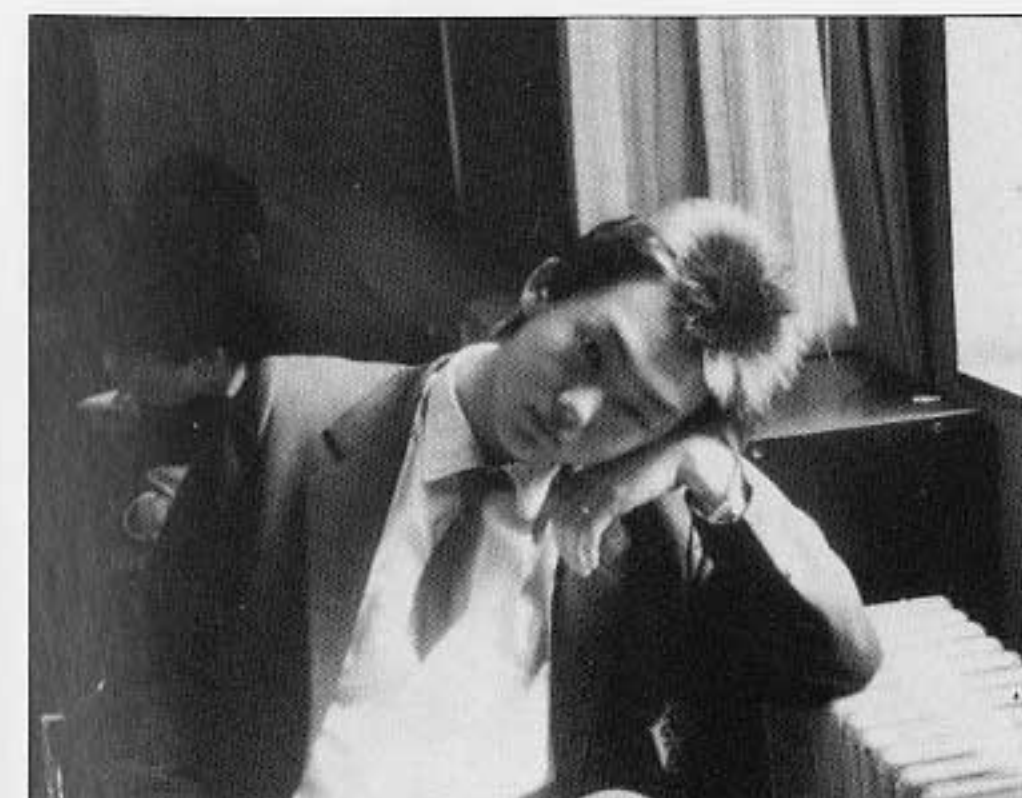

One of the most prepossessing boys of the class was John. This brought about his obtaining a job of modeling at Joinus, which lasted a year. He really contributed to the Tennis team, winning an all-star patch at the final tournament. Sociable, as he was, he had many friends in and out of school. His participation in many school activities left an indelible mark on the history of Saint Joseph's. "Sensitive" and "keen" best describe him. He had a undeniable talent in many fields of gambling.

The dashing tennis captain this year was Ichiro. Not only did he conduct a progressively successful tennis year, but he also served as the Student Council Treasurer and Senior Scouts Leader. Only his dependable and steadfast leadership could have made him the president for so many years and stir us all to action. Another important trait that cannot be neglected is that he was very dignified in his bearing.

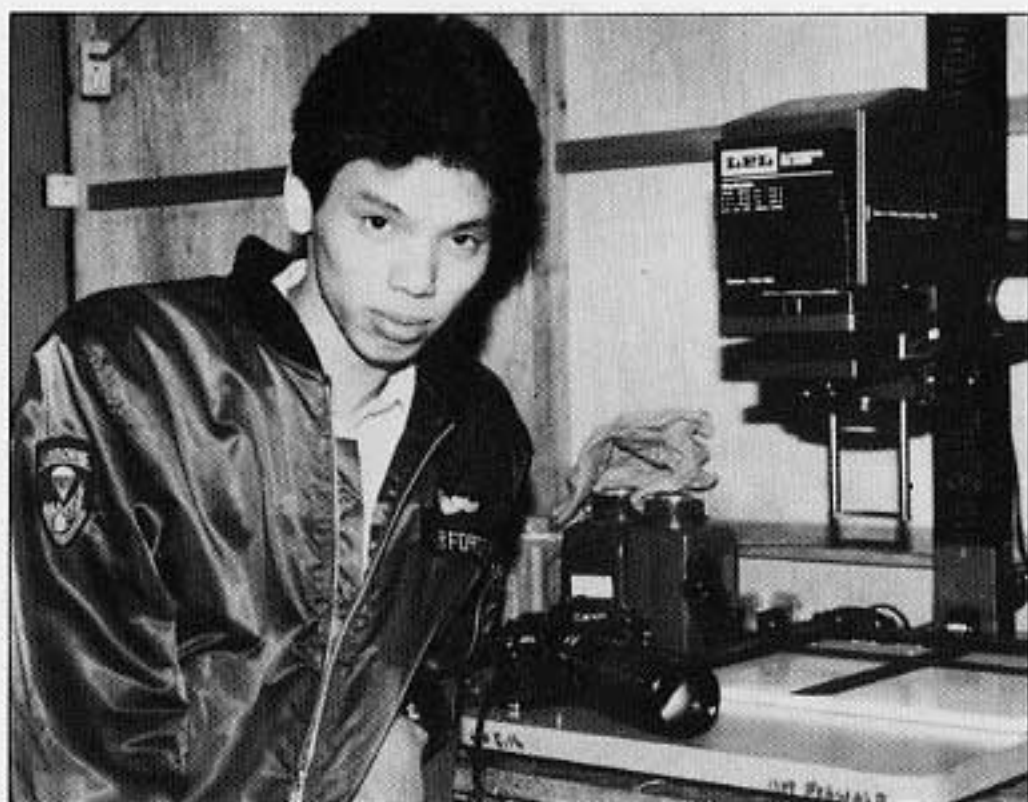

The tedious job of the class treasurer was executed by Mike. His talents in math are well known among his classmates. "Fashionable" best fits him in the field of clothing. He was energetic and quick-witted, but his friends will remember him mostly for his keen sense of humor. Also, "spontaneity" distinguishes his behavior. Mike is a veteran of SJIS, a school which takes a lot of pride in him.

A twelve year veteran served — and did a marvelous job — as the Student Council President this year. Stan, not only being responsible but also emotionally stable, helped many of his classmates who were in trouble. Not only did he participate in most school activities but he also had diverse hobbies such as skiing, golfing and practicing karate. Erudition and a penchant for aphorisms stand out among Stan's characteristics.

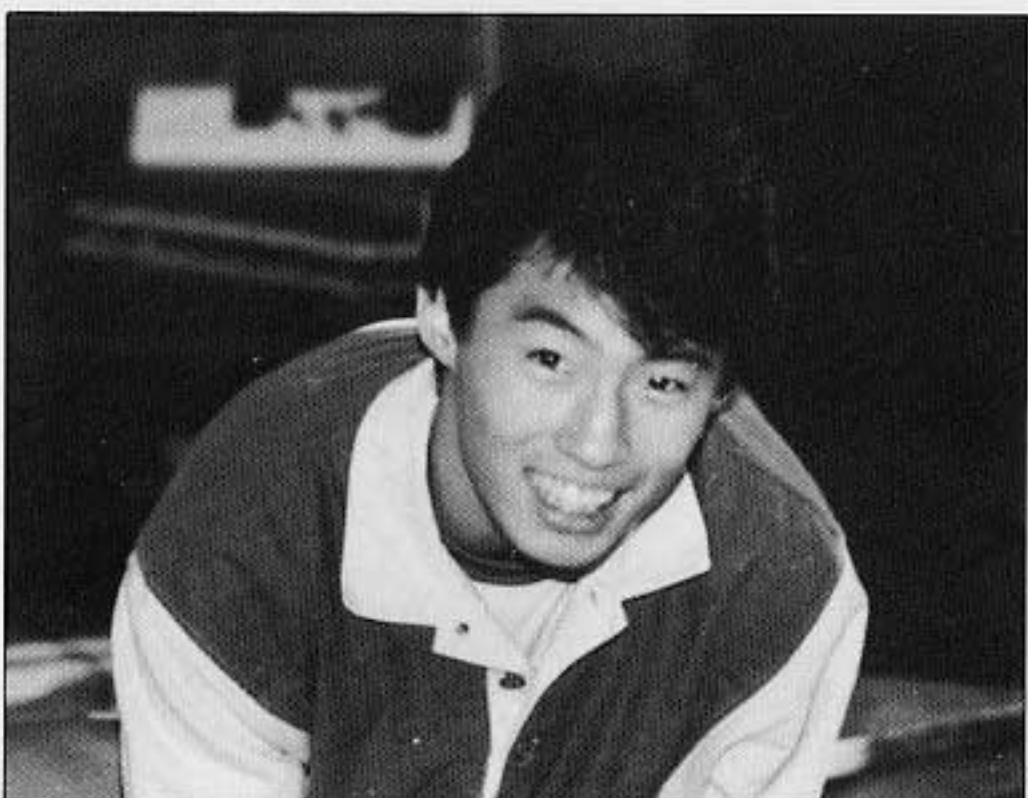

Though Shinichi was with us for only two years, he intermingled with his classmates without any problem at all. In the beginning of his senior year, he showed his exceptional talents as a tennis player. His love for music, or rather, music's love for him, knew no bounds. His introspection made him seem rather enigmatic, but he actually was self-sufficient, creative, and intensely interested in his friends.

There was a student who suddenly bloomed in the field of science. This man got extremely high grades in Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. This intelligent, scrupulous young man was Chong-Kiong. His sense of responsibility became patently visible to all of us when he superbly starred in the role of the editor of our year-book. His participation in almost all school activities is well recognized and respected by his fellow classmates. The twelve years spent by him at SJIS were by no means wasted.

A twelve year student served as the President of the Drama Club and also the chairman of the new Constitution Committee. A comical, lovable boy, George, advertised himself as "unique." His multi-faceted talents were all manifested to his classmates as they observed his unique way of (mis-) managing the Drama Club, School Constitution Committee, Interact and the truly incomparable method of filling out college applications. He was always thirsty for knowledge. His whimsical and ingratiating traits were enjoyed by everyone.

"Athlete" was the most suitable epithet for Hironori. His participation in tennis, soccer and baseball helped all three teams tremendously. His leadership in the Sports Committee and successful organization of the intramurals endeared him. Everyone loved his irresistible smile which made even angry teachers melt. Amiable and dexterous as he is, it's no small wonder that he tops all others in having the most friends.

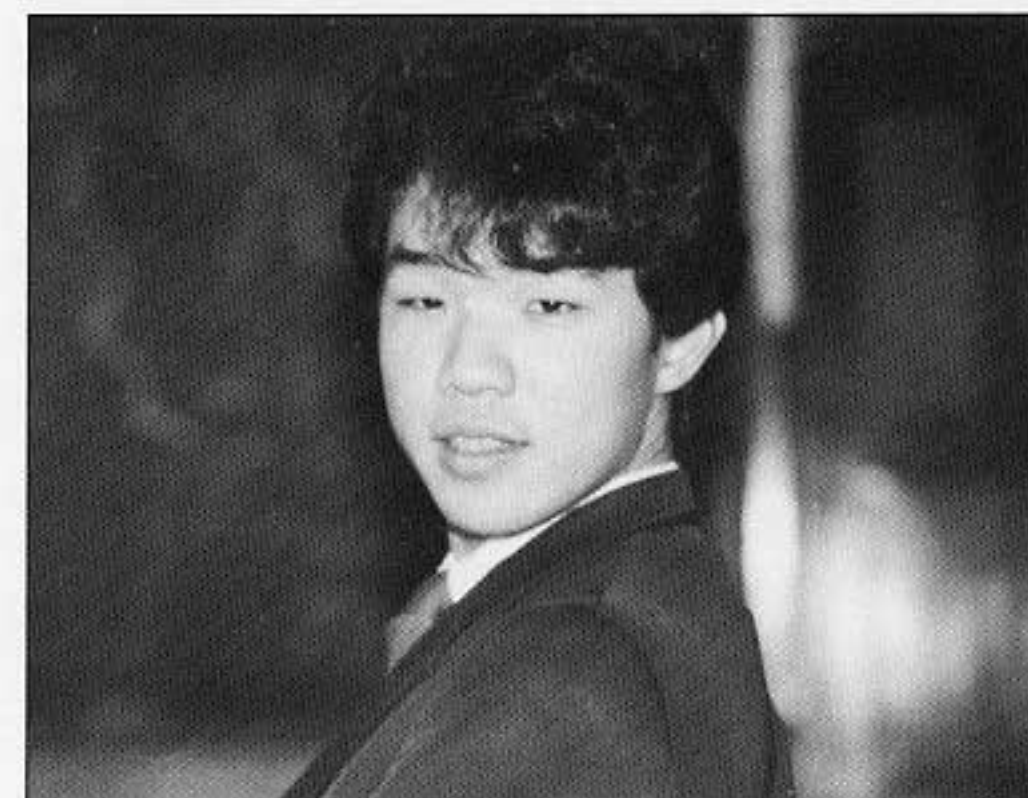

As his nickname suggests, "Baby Lee," or Jay, is a very cute and attractive individual. He endured the arduous but effective work of the Basketball team for four years. It is a puzzle whether he liked heavy metal or heavy metal liked him. Anyway, his love for music will always be remembered. Life-time friends are made only through being loyal and considerate, a process which came naturally to Jay.

The sole, yet superb, artist of the class was Tsutomu. No one doubted his special talents in that field. Being swift-footed, he served as the captain of the Cross-Country team. Another important role he enjoyed was that of the President of the Photo Club, which made a smashing performance at the Bingo-Food-Fair. Tsutomu is always well-intentioned and he is quite reliable. His courteous manners were also patent to his peers and superiors.

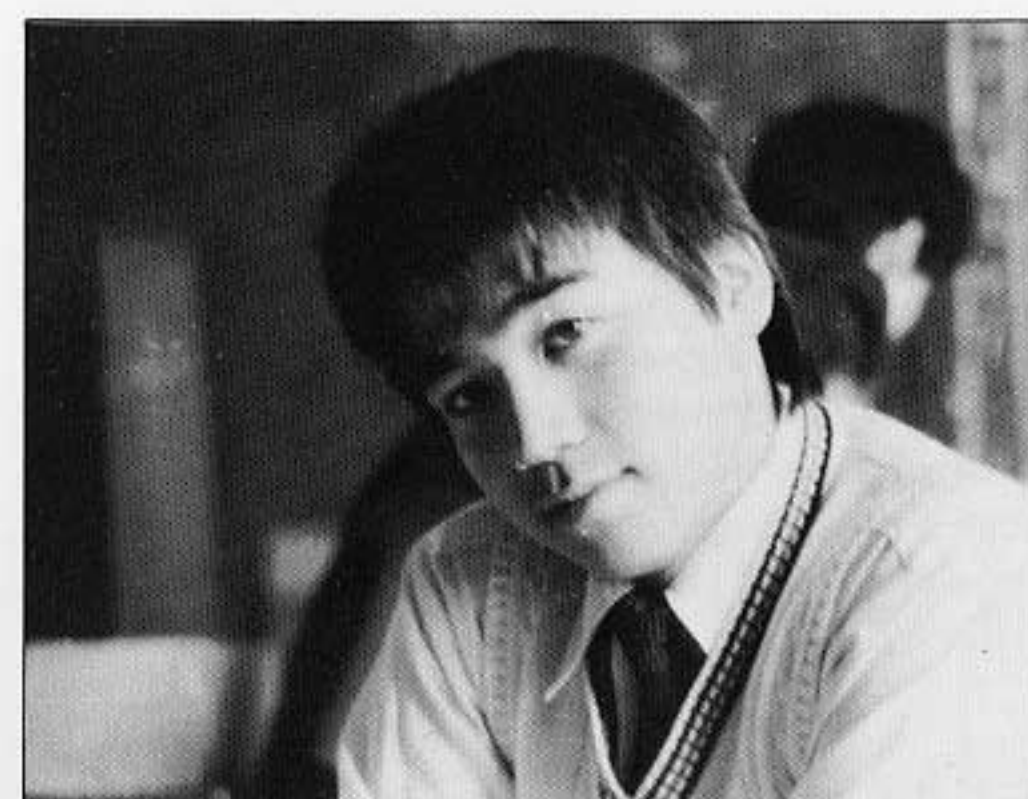

A person who rarely complains owing his understanding attitude to life is Masakazu. Though he is usually reticent, when it comes to karate, he becomes vigorous and voluble. Diligence, as many teachers recognize, exemplifies him the most. When socializing with his friends, he is very cooperative and frank; ergo he is liked by everyone. He bore a striking resemblance to England's most beloved monarch, Henry V. Needless to say, this refers to his valour and avuncular concern for others.

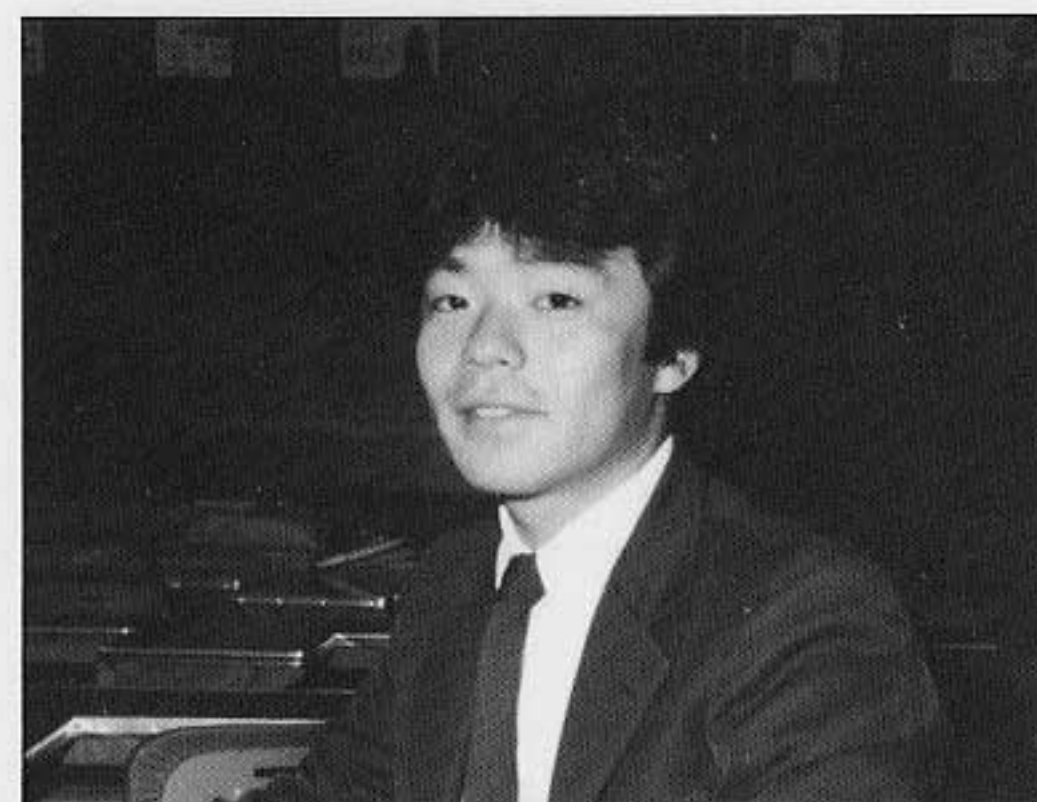

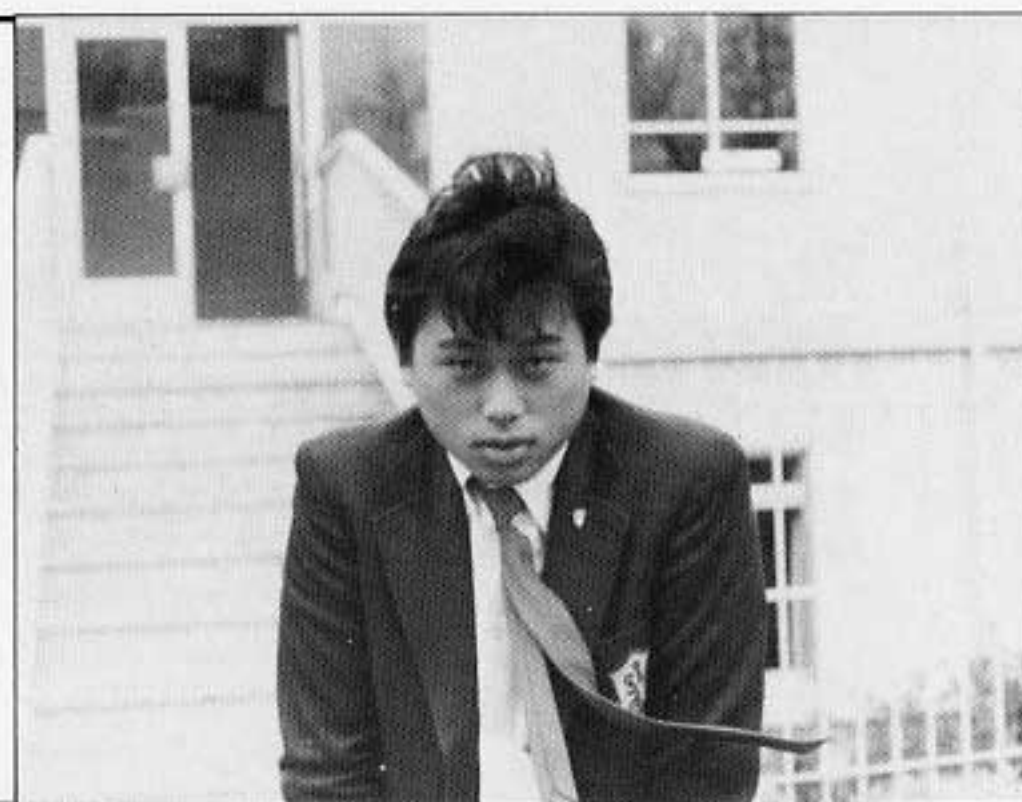

The other surf-lover is Nicholai. "Did he sleep more or surf more?", his classmates wondered. His colossal contribution to the Cross-Country team will never be forgotten. His opinions delivered, though they may have been in a somnolent, nasal tone were always candid. Being commutative, he had a lot of friends in and out of school. His classmates will remember him for his joyful laughter, making anyone near him instantaneously happy. Relaxed and upretentious, he cast a spell of goodwill and camaraderie over whatever group he joined.

We never could have done so well in soccer without the strong defense personified by our tower of strength: Kenji. The talent he showed in speaking made it plain to us that he was not only loquacious, but truly gifted with rhetorical powers. His originality evoked the admiration of his classmates. The epithet "sturdy" best fits his physical appearance, giving people the impression of a person they can really rely on. He was a non-conformist; perhaps the respect from his classmates was only a natural consequence. He also received an all-star rating from the Kanto Plains Association for his outstanding contribution in soccer.

Once upon a time there was a fiery boy, not unlike the legendary dragon of Nordic and Eastern myths; only this dragon was extraordinarily good-looking and affable. People called him Jochi. His competence as the captain of the Baseball team was immediately and widely recognized. His classmates will never forget his inexplicable and intense hatred for pigeons. Being down-to-earth but imaginative, he was academically one of the top students of the whole school. His brilliance was proven by his super talents in Brain Bowl. Three facets of this veritable gem of humanity were as follows: he was the tallest, the most logical, and the most expansive. In a word he was "hot stuff"!

Publicity had an excellent year under the leadership of the one and only Ryutaro: a felicitous combination of prepossessing looks, virile affability, and lightning-quick physical agility. Being the oldest in class, he had the most experience and proved himself infallibly reliable on all occasions, no matter how grave the crisis. His love for karate will never be forgotten, especially because of his always-bruised, but truly adamantine shins injured to knife-like kicks and sudden attacks from his always-vanquished opponents. He was very active in school, and was seen in almost all activities. To say he was altruistic, straight-forward, and intrepid does not suffice if one were to do him full justice.

A veteran served as the Social Committee chairman this year. Jimmy, not only conducting successful dances but also helped tremendously as the photo editor of our yearbook. His gifted talents manifested themselves in various categories such as DJing, taking pictures, and playing tennis. Being helpful at all times, he could always be counted on to salvage a crucial situation and transform it into an unprecedented success. His classmates shall remember him as being the most mercurial in the class for, like wing-footed Hermes, he would always alight, when we were in a plight, to bring genuine delight while setting things right.

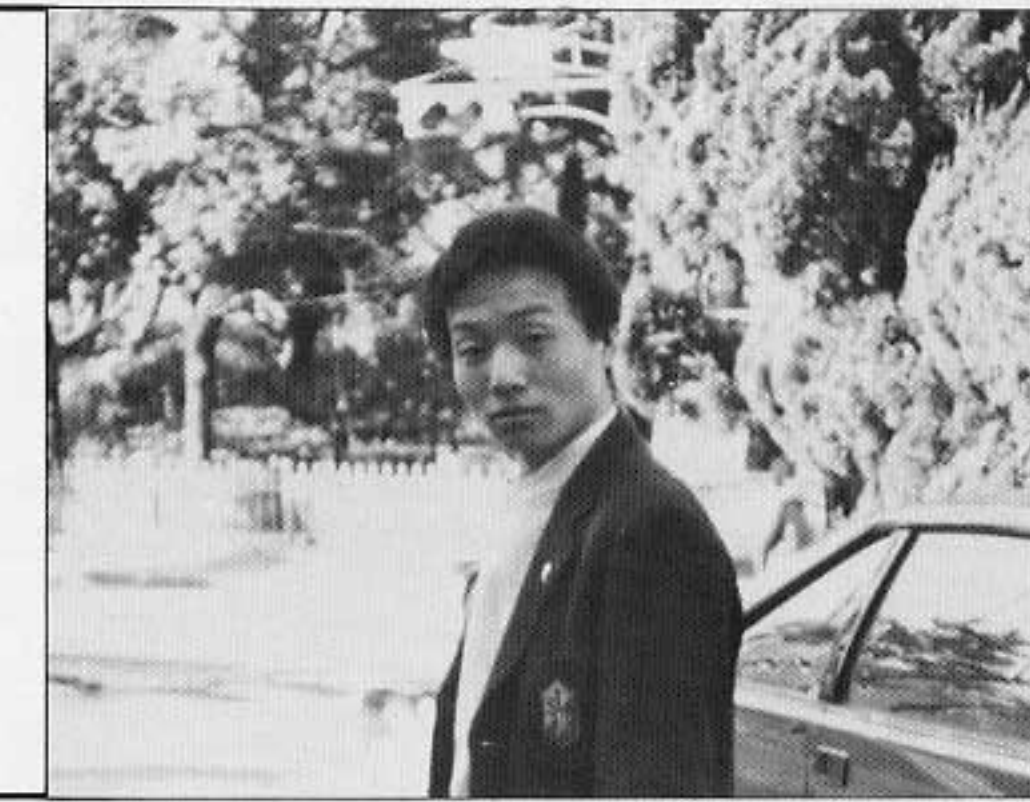

There was a boy who underwent a protean change of status: no sooner had he left the Intensive English Program than he became an esteemed member of National Honor Society. "Amazement Sat," like Hamlet's mother, on both the faculty and student body. A truly stoical and sincere SJIS gentleman, he inobtrusively but steadily gave full support to his peers and to what has now become his alma mater. This boy, Shoichi was liked by everyone for his kindness and also for his sense of humor.

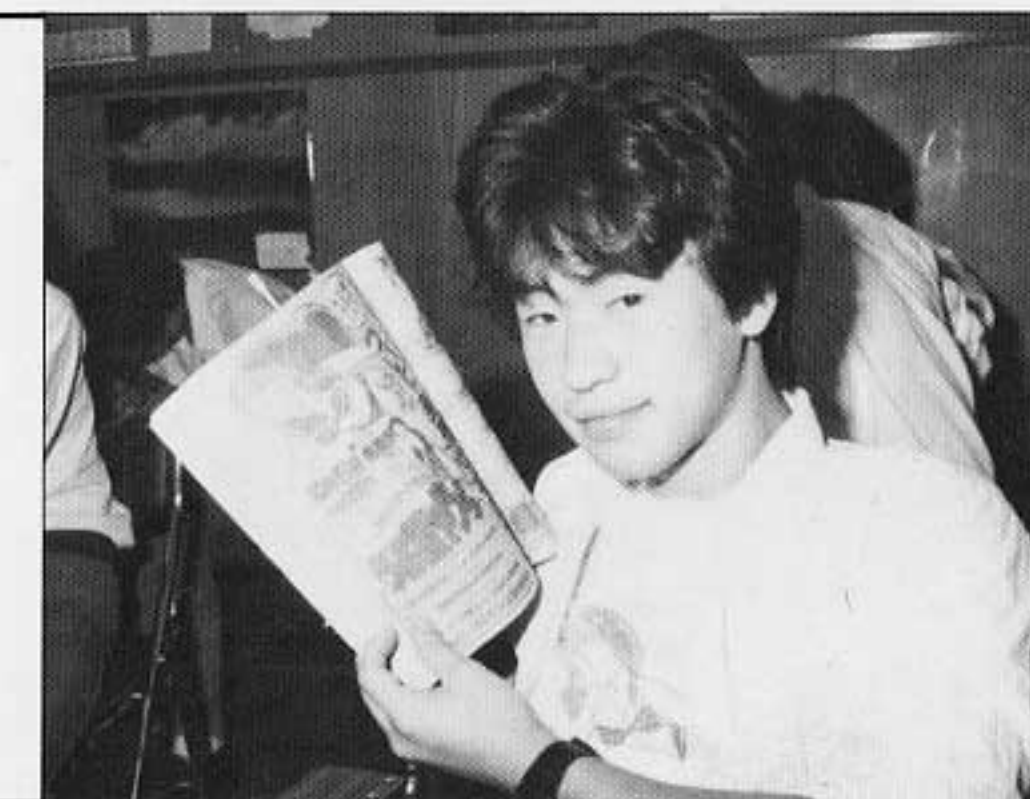

A person who was genuinely concerned with the welfare of his classmates held the job of the class president. Trouble-shooter par excellence, Masahiko never hesitated to help anyone in a plight. His responsibility was manifested as he led the Interact Club. Although he suffered kidney trouble and was hospitalized for a long time, he showed his vigorous, alert, and positive character when he was in school where he was a veteran, respected by both his classmates and many of his underclassmen.

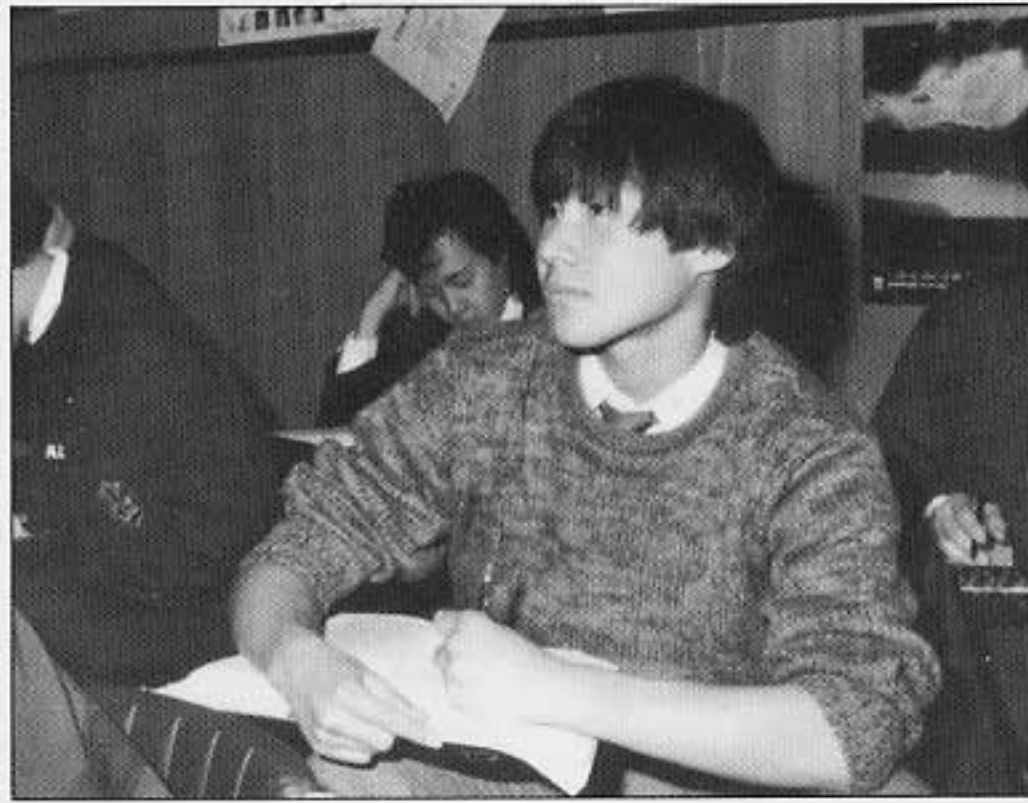

As the appellation "Lone Ranger" suggests, Yuusuke was an individualistic and dynamic person. His diligence in many subjects, especially in Maths, finally brought him the role of the President of the National Honor Society. Many hobbies did he enjoy, such as water-skiing, photography, and music. Yuusuke was always truthful and helpful tutoring his classmates when they were in a strick plight. His ebullience sometimes caused friction with certain pedagogues who found his sarcastic wit a bit too forward for their liking. Most of his friends, even teachers, however, considered him a lovable, though irrepressible, package of T.N.T.

Soccer was, and ever shall be, the main sport at SJIS. To find oneself the captain of soccer team, therefore is to be in an extremely responsible and pressurized position. Yoshimitsu exerted off all his energy to lead the team to a dramatic victory, SJIS ending up 2nd in the league, owing to his solid leadership. Yoshimitsu also served as the Welfare Committee chairman and staged a successful Rock Show. Intrepid, self-confident, well-disposed, and generous in dealing with others, Yoshimitsu enjoyed respect and good will from student and teachers alike.

A genius at the drums was Nobuyuki. He had a wide range of hobbies — soccer, music (heavy metal), motorbikes, cars, etc. He was markedly positive and his "tigerish" qualities were at no time unwelcome. Being extremely alert, he often bombarded his teachers with his keen questioning. "Responsive" best describes his attitude during class. He would have probably won an all-star patch in soccer, had he not injured his leg. Pursuing his interest in Lum-chan, a comic character, took up a lot his time and inexhaustible energy.

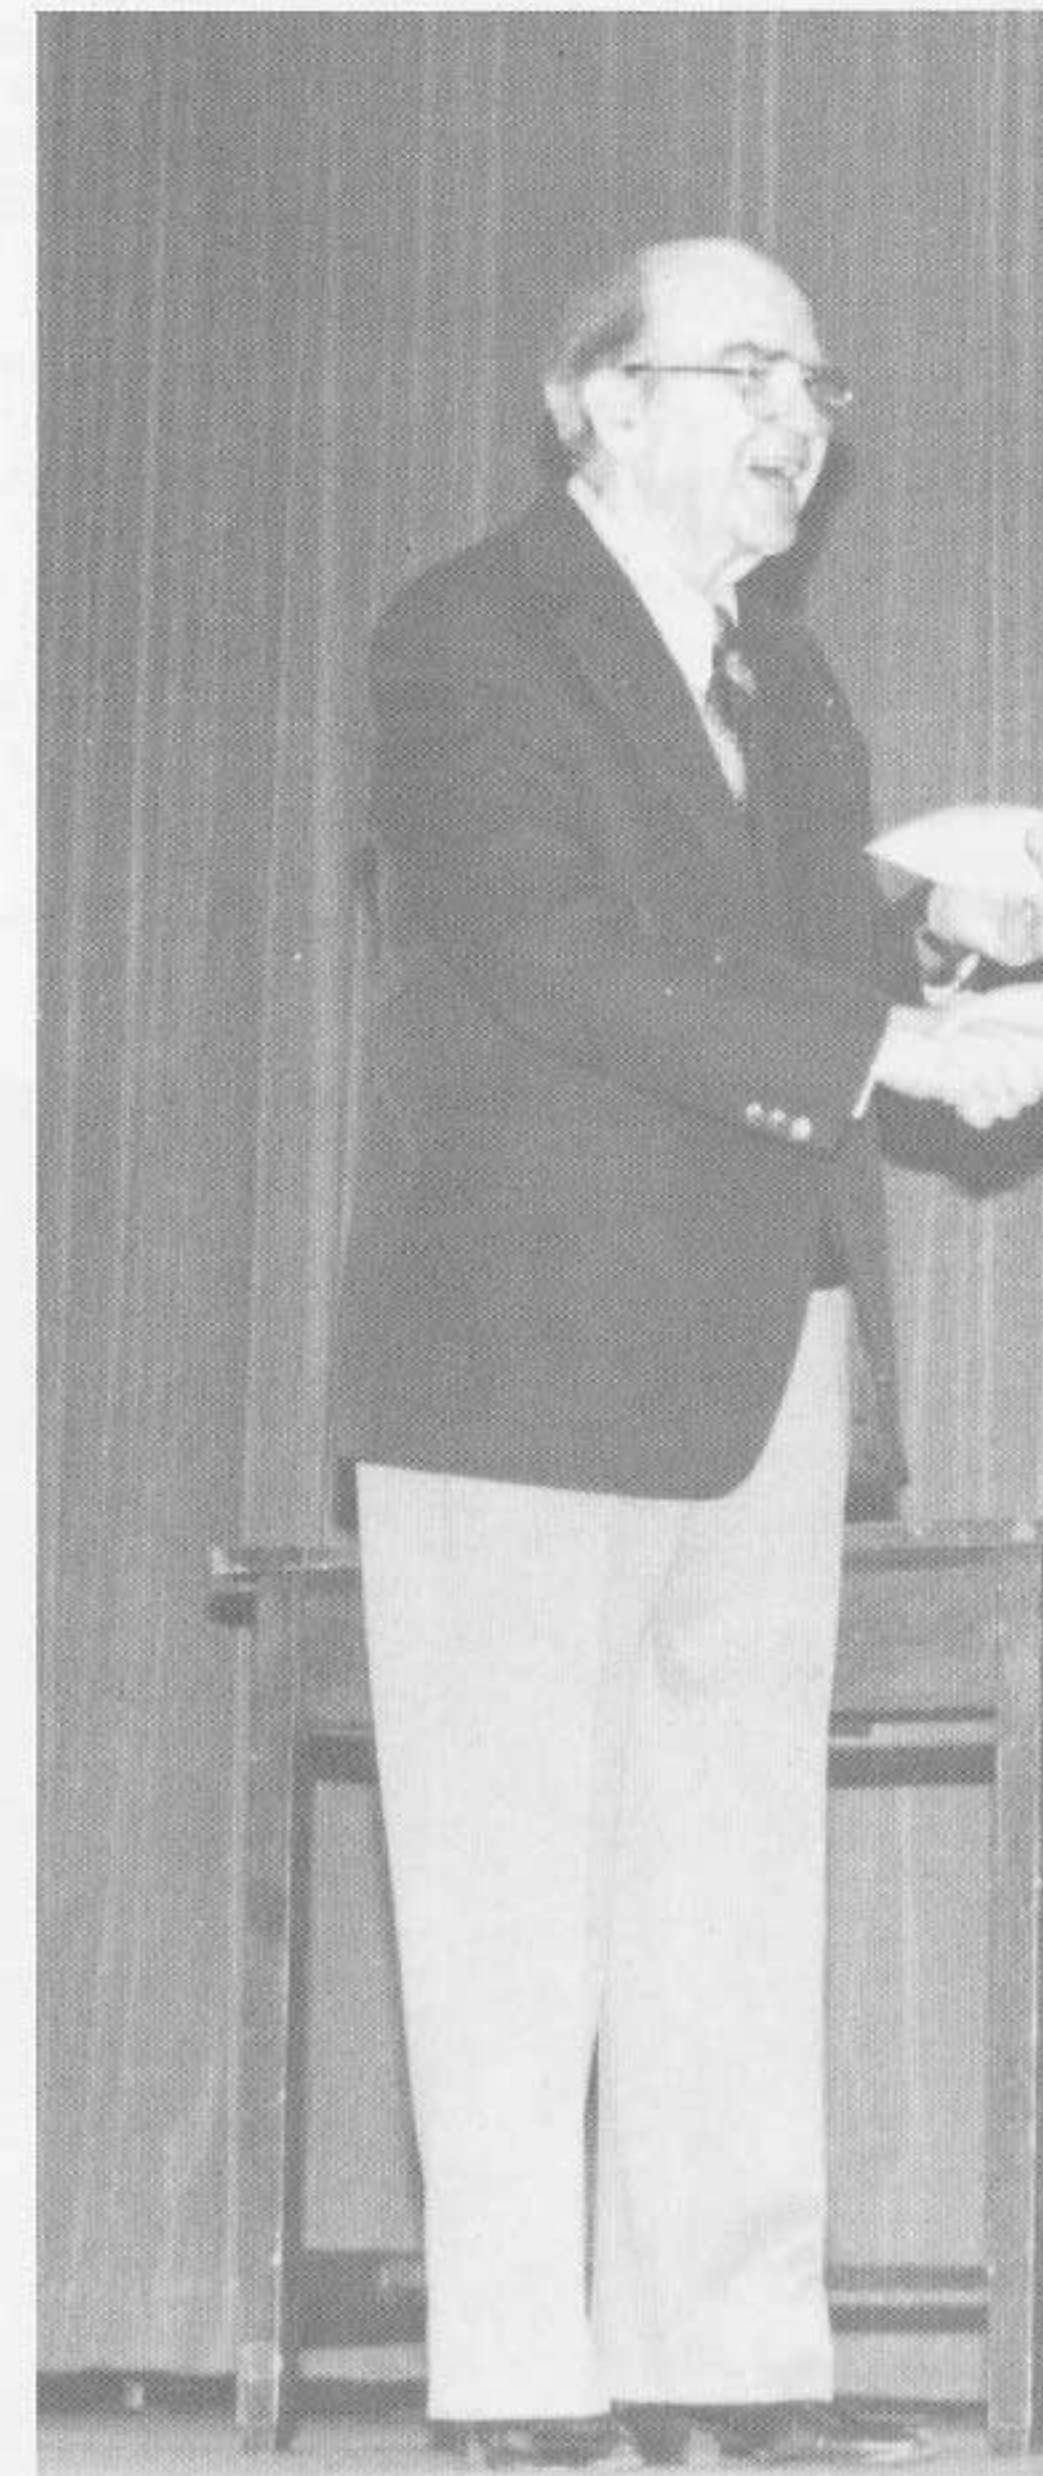

A boy who manifested his courage at the school speech contest was Hiroki. He topped the other participants in his category. He had an undefined interest in karate also. He attended almost all practices no matter how tired he happened to be. He was always on time and had had Perfect Attendance. Amiable, dedicated, self-motivated and conscientious are adjectives that best describe his character. He was always prolific in his writing, showing his wide imagination.

Hirofuka bore a striking resemblance to Mr. Nagashima, the ex-Giants head coach, both physically and mentally. Hirofuka, just as his look-alike, was realistic, quick-witted, and prudent. He evinced much initiative, and unhesitatingly helped others whenever he could. Music certainly had a devotee in him. Most of his free time was spent in studios. All his classmates saw a bright future for him. Obviously, he inspired confidence in others.

June 8, 1985

Dear Graduates of 1985,

You cannot overestimate my pleasure of my association with you these past nine years. Your growth over this period has been dramatic and most rewarding. Your Senior year is the culmination bringing with it the maturity befitting your years.

Many of you have been at St. Joseph International School twelve years. Over these years you picked up the spirit we endeavored to engender in you. First of all you have become international men. You are skilled in at least three languages multiplying your communication abilities.

You have had the witness of an international community of teachers living and working together in peace and harmony. This is a fact you can bring to all the people you meet. Men and women of every race and nationality can achieve a oneness well beyond nation, race, and language.

While St. Joseph International School is a mission school imparting the Christian message we recognize the diversity among the staff and students. Rather than dividing us the Christian spirit is reaching out to us honoring our individual beliefs and teaching us to live together as family.

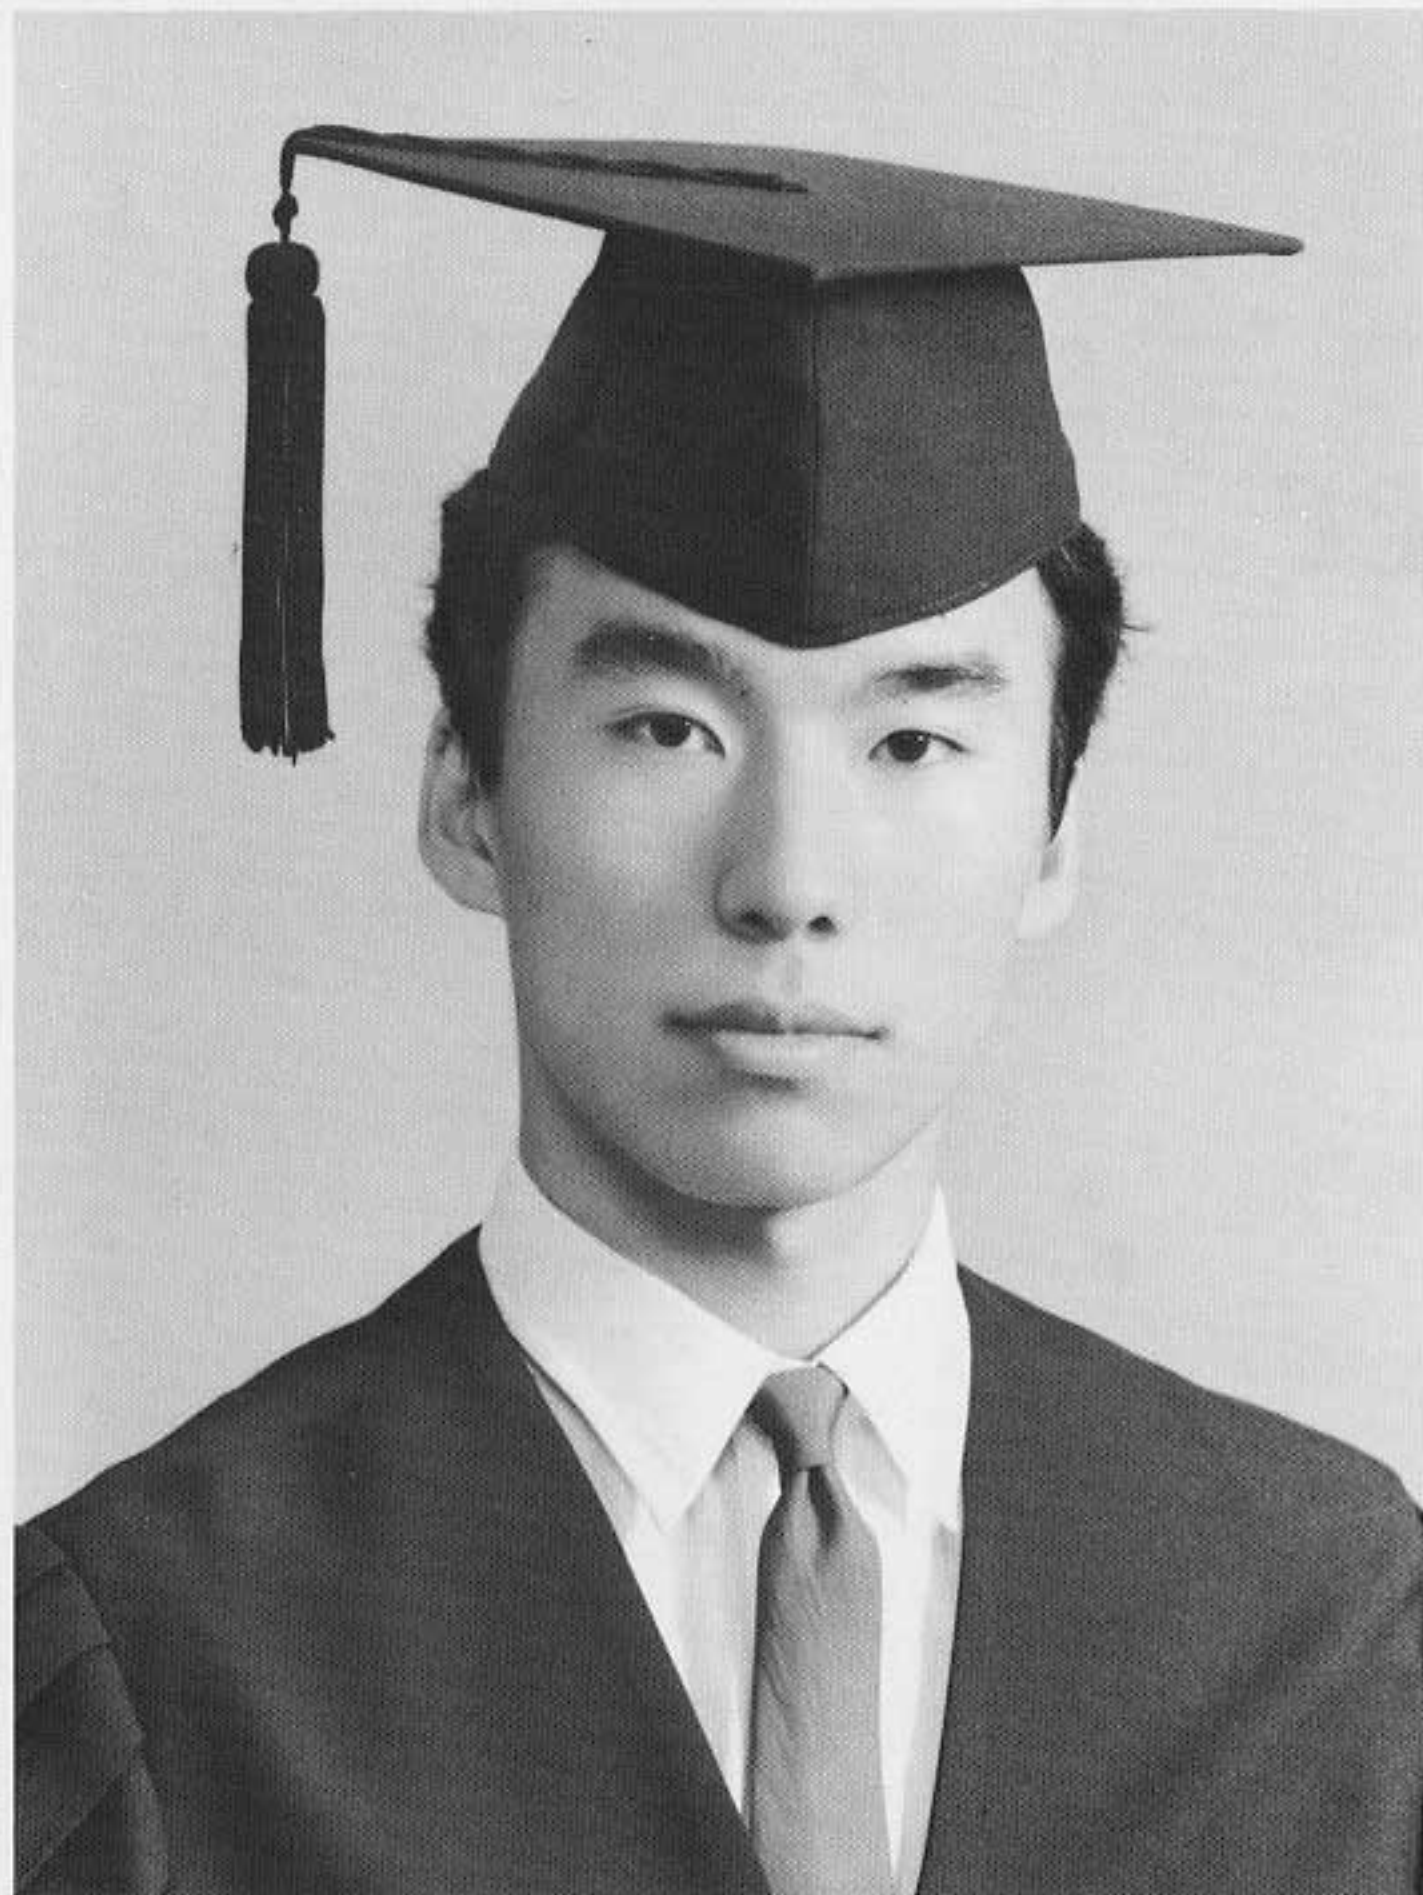

The world is hungry for the kind of life strived for here. How can there be war, terror, and want within a family? Guard this rich heritage you have received as a precious world-saving message.

Your Marianist teachers and others have planted the seed of faith in your hearts. The growth and flowering of this seed may be earlier or later in your lifetime. Listen for God's call and follow it. Then our work for you will not have been in vain.

With these few words I bid you farewell and Godspeed. It may be our paths will cross. Be sure of my prayers for you now and always—even beyond the grave. May God's blessing be on you and yours forever.

Sincerely yours,

Bro. Donald C. McKee, S.M.

To the graduating Class of 1985, my Senior Class Homeroom:
 Congratulations on receiving your high school diplomas! It represents an achievement of growth. It means that you have successfully attained an educational goal. You have made another step toward maturity — being able to accept responsibility and giving an account of your performance.

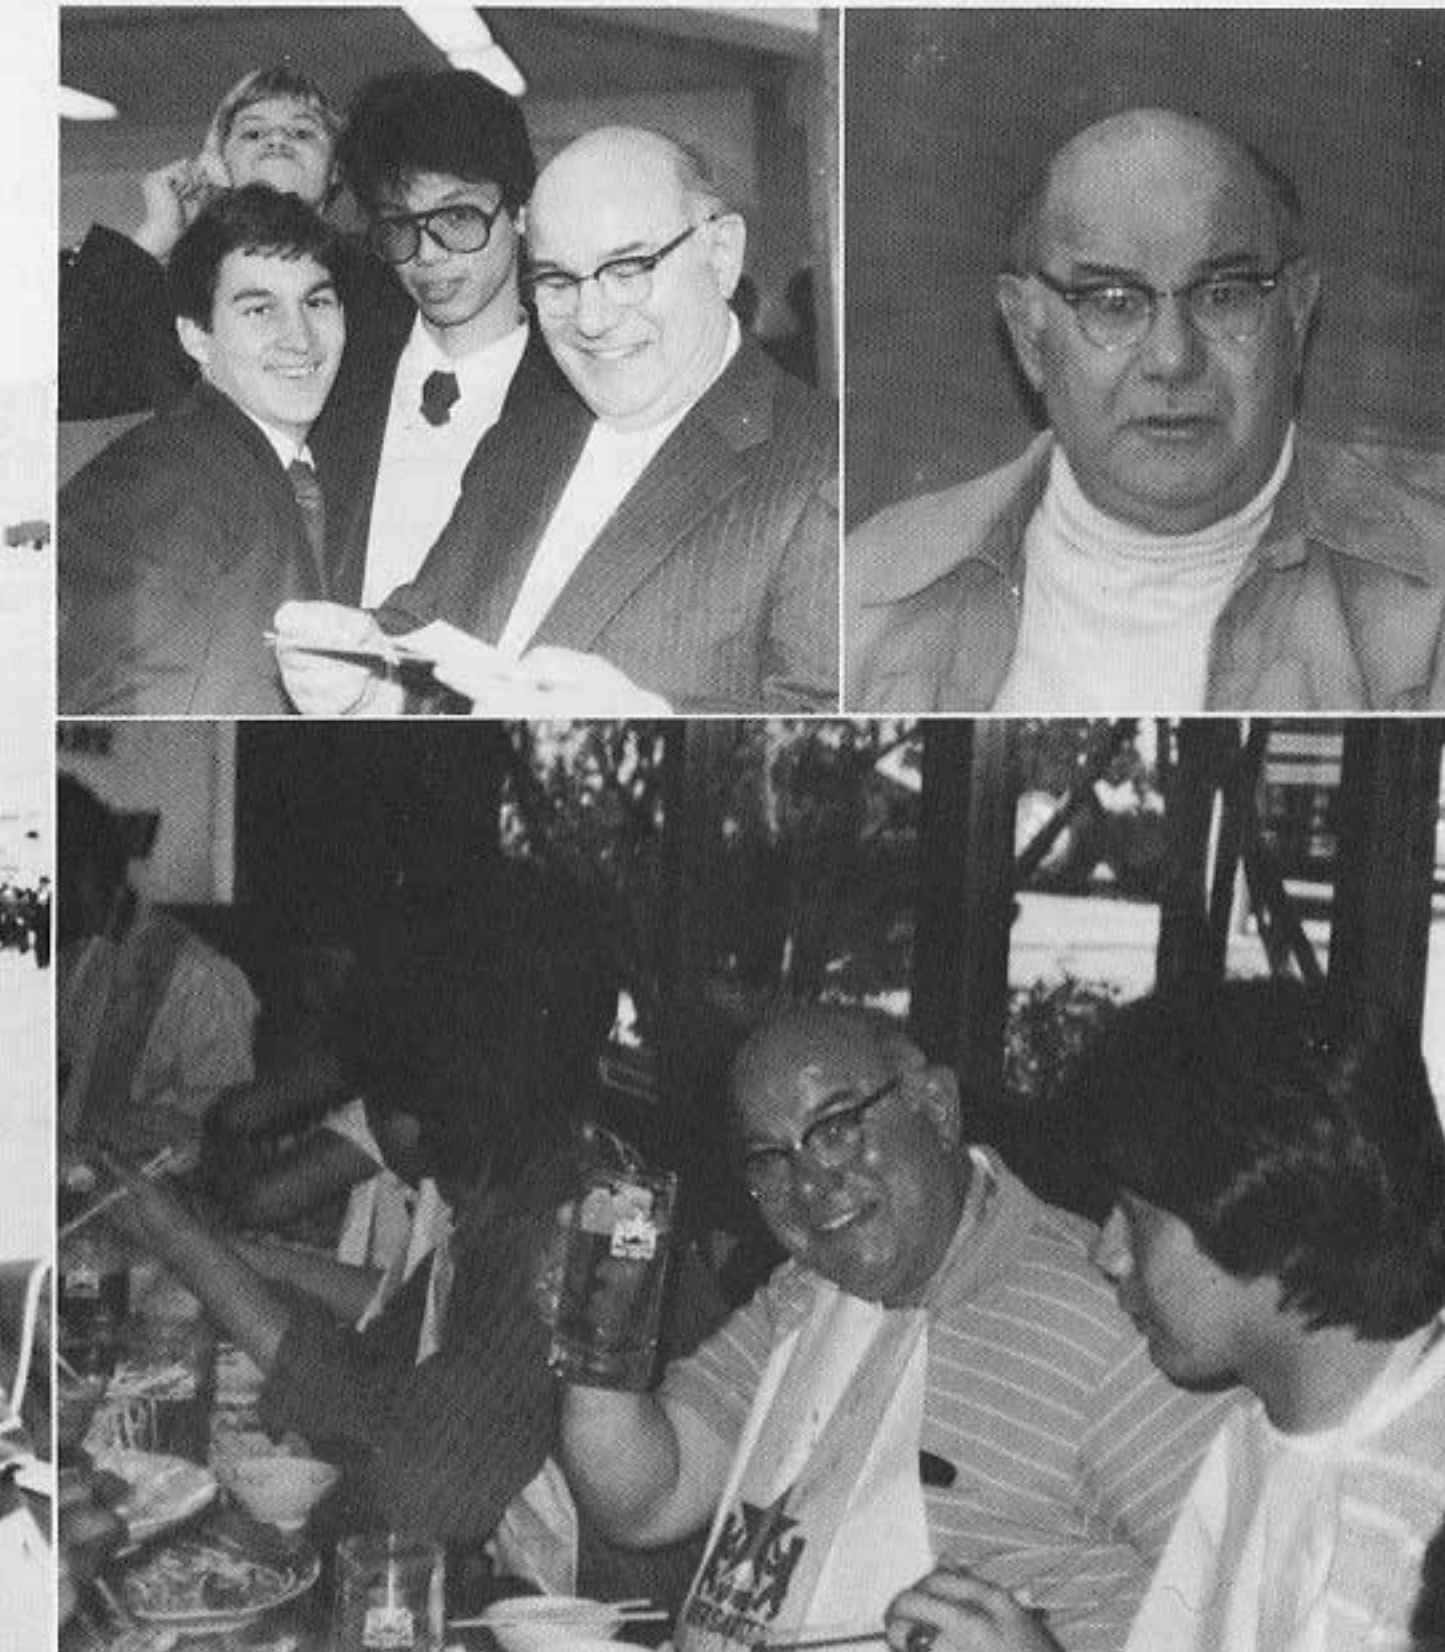

During the senior year you have demonstrated great class spirit; gave whole hearted support and cooperation to school activities. Your performance in leadership to your underclassmen reached the high standards which St. Joseph's expects of its Senior Class. A faculty member's remark pays tribute to you — "It is a class with a great heart."

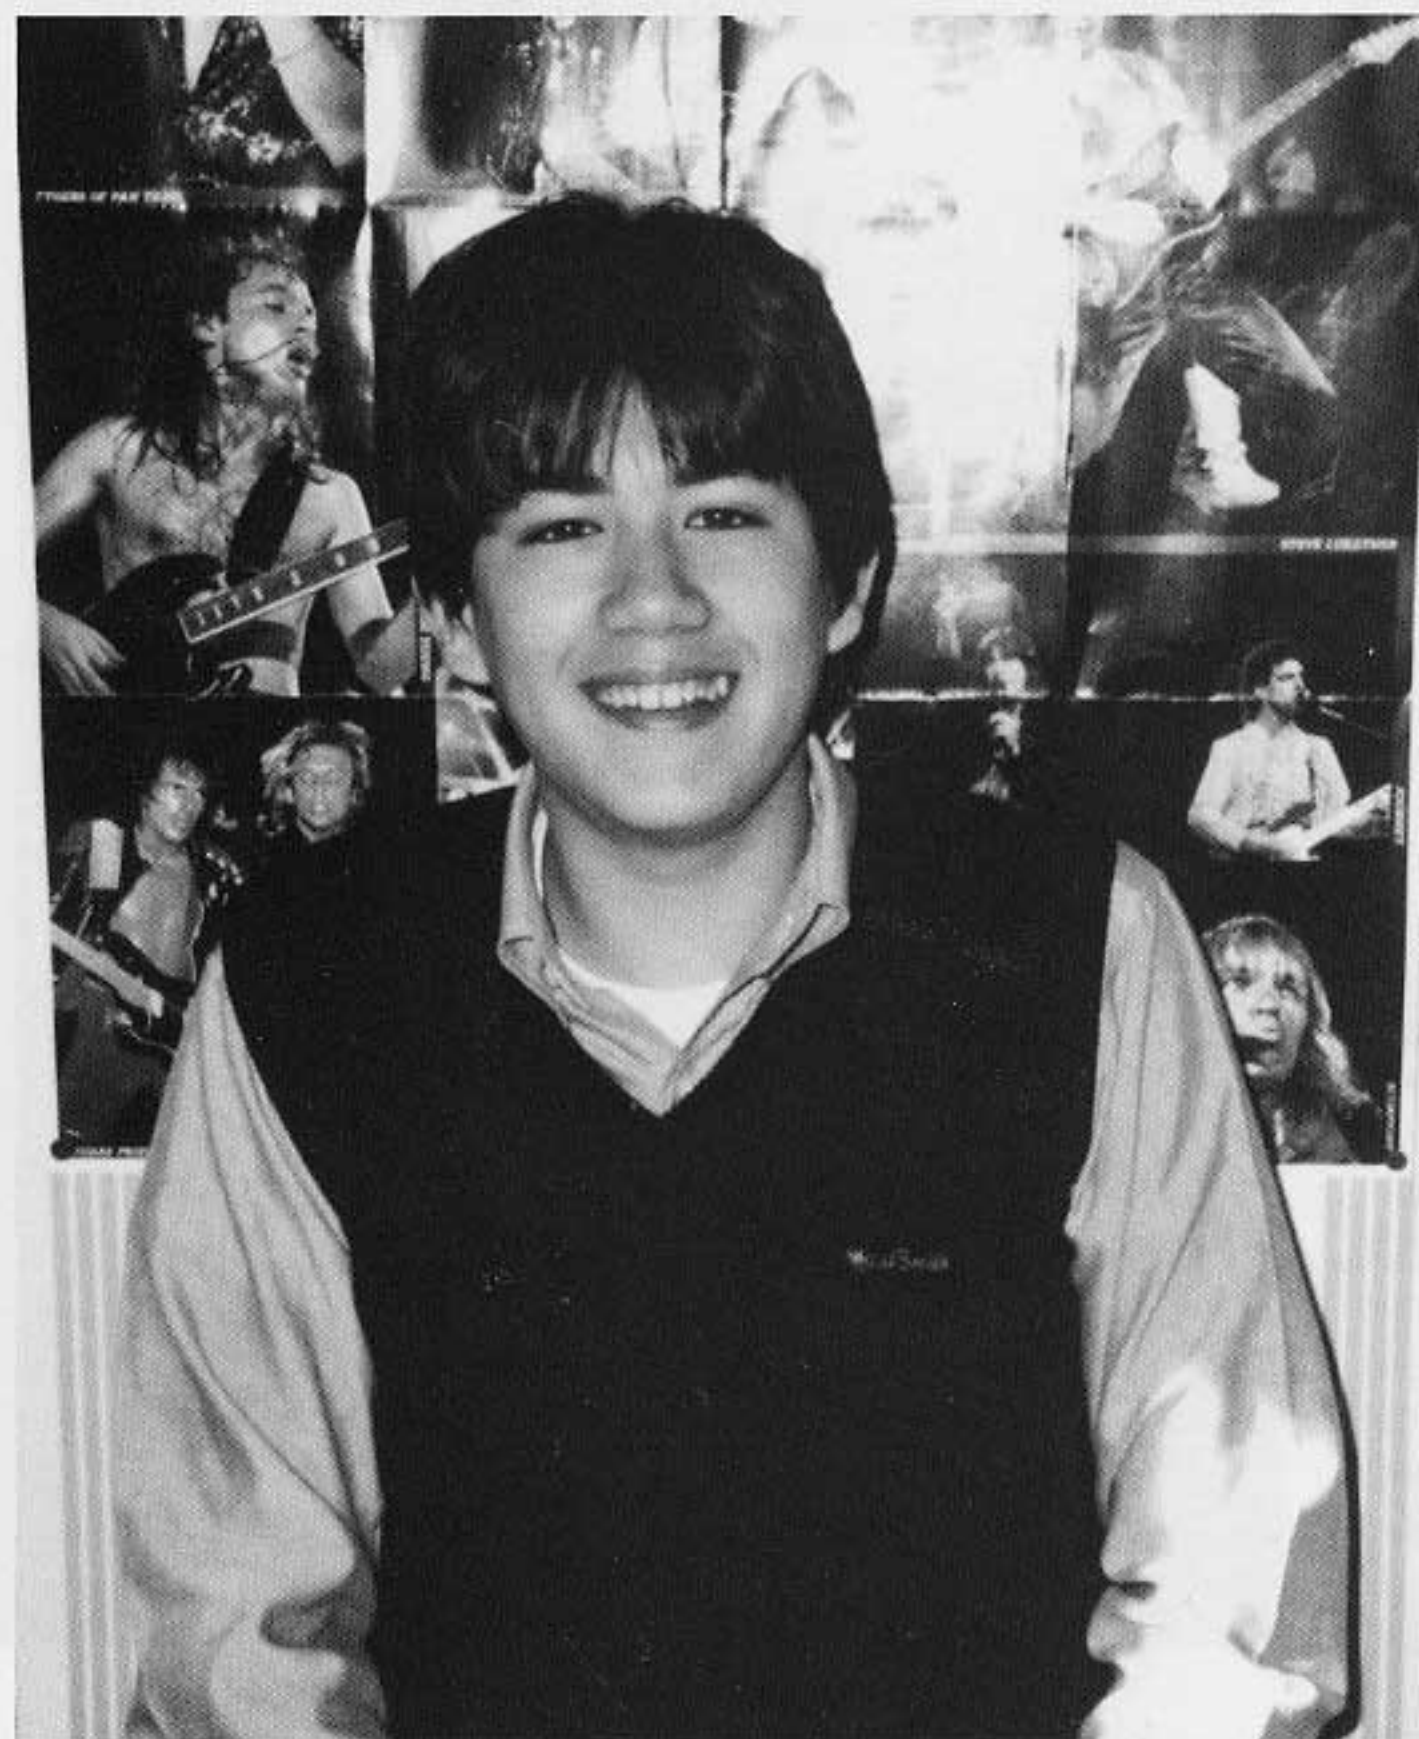

You have sought knowledge and have so far grasped some part of it. No doubt you will seek much more in the future — after all, we never stop learning. However, remember that Wisdom, too, must be sought after. Wisdom is not necessarily sought in books as knowledge is, but rather in the spiritual depth of oneself — where one encounters in Faith, the Maker of the Universe — in prayer.

My very best wishes for the future — God Bless you!

Our fathers helped us half way. Our mothers helped us half way. For the rest, we will have to help ourselves.

—R.K.F.—

We all heard about it, some of us sooner than others, but it was so unbelievable, too big to mentally swallow—it was just unimaginable. Death always seemed to be something that happened to older distant aunts and uncles. Even for those of us who had lost a parent, and knew first-hand the sinking inner emptiness, this was different. Young people aren't suppose to die - somehow God had made a terrible mistake. All of us felt it; Ricky wasn't really dead - he couldn't be. How could he be dead, hadn't we all written to him during that class last year? No, Ricky wasn't dead.

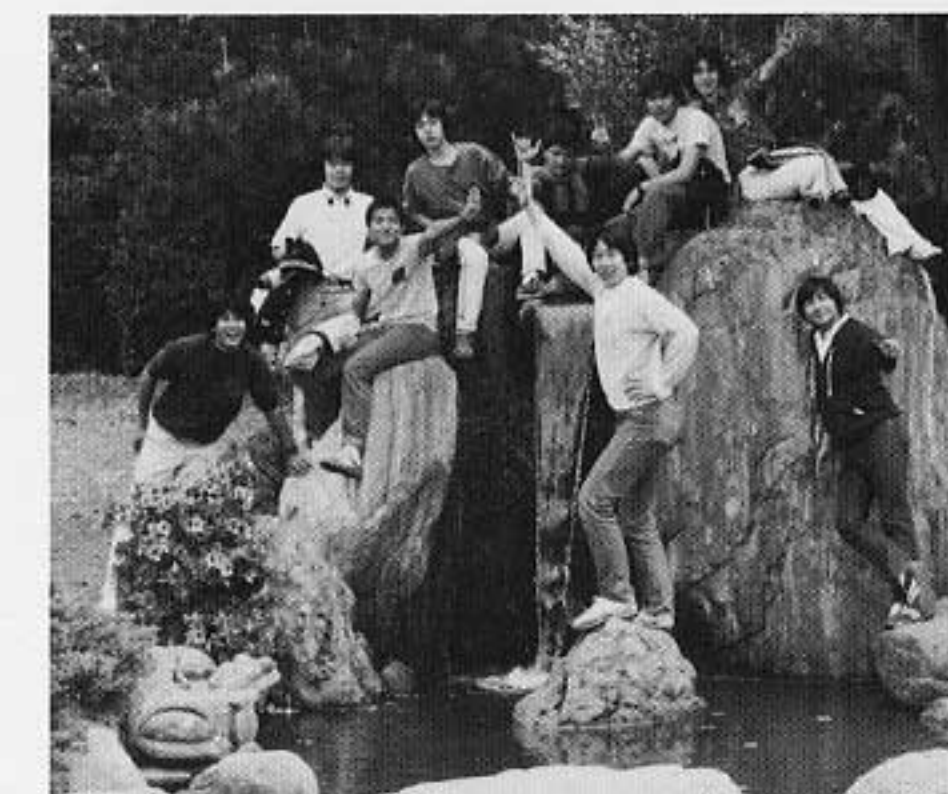

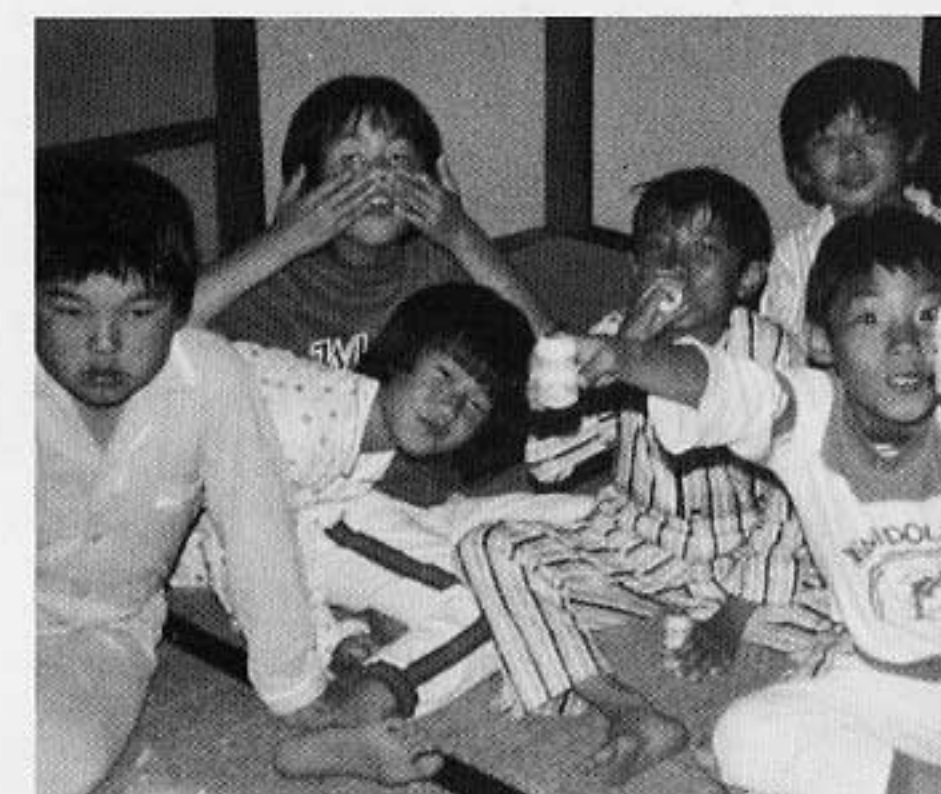

More information came in; Ricky's mother had flown to the States, the coffin would be arriving on Tuesday, the wake would be from seven o'clock. All this news we absorbed but although we were able to understand and begin the mundane preparations for what was expected of us, inside our hearts none of us accepted the fact. It was as if the central, most feeling sections of our brains had been artificially numbed. We could still function on a surface level: assignments, sports practices and dates, but these activities seemed somehow insignificant. Our parents and teachers looked at us in that strange sad way - they were waiting too.

The time waiting seemed unnaturally long; like we had fallen off a motorcycle/surf board/ bicycle and were in extended limbo before the impending impact. We all knew what was coming what ever it was would hurt - but nobody knew how much. As we grew smaller, waiting to be engulfed by events and emotions that we hardly understood many of us prayed - some for the first time.

Then all the waiting was over - but we wished it wasn't. We stood stiffly in the cold garden as the various parents, teachers, and members of Ricky's immediate family passed in front of us. Then painfully each of us mounted the step, entered the living room, and stood before Ricky's open casket. As we lit the incense and looked down at his face the numbness in our hearts wore off and we knew it was true. That was Ricky; Ricky who we had joked with, jammed with, and gotten pissed-off at - lying there. We suddenly wanted to tell him so many things, each one of these seemed so important, but we knew he couldn't hear. We bowed and stepped back.

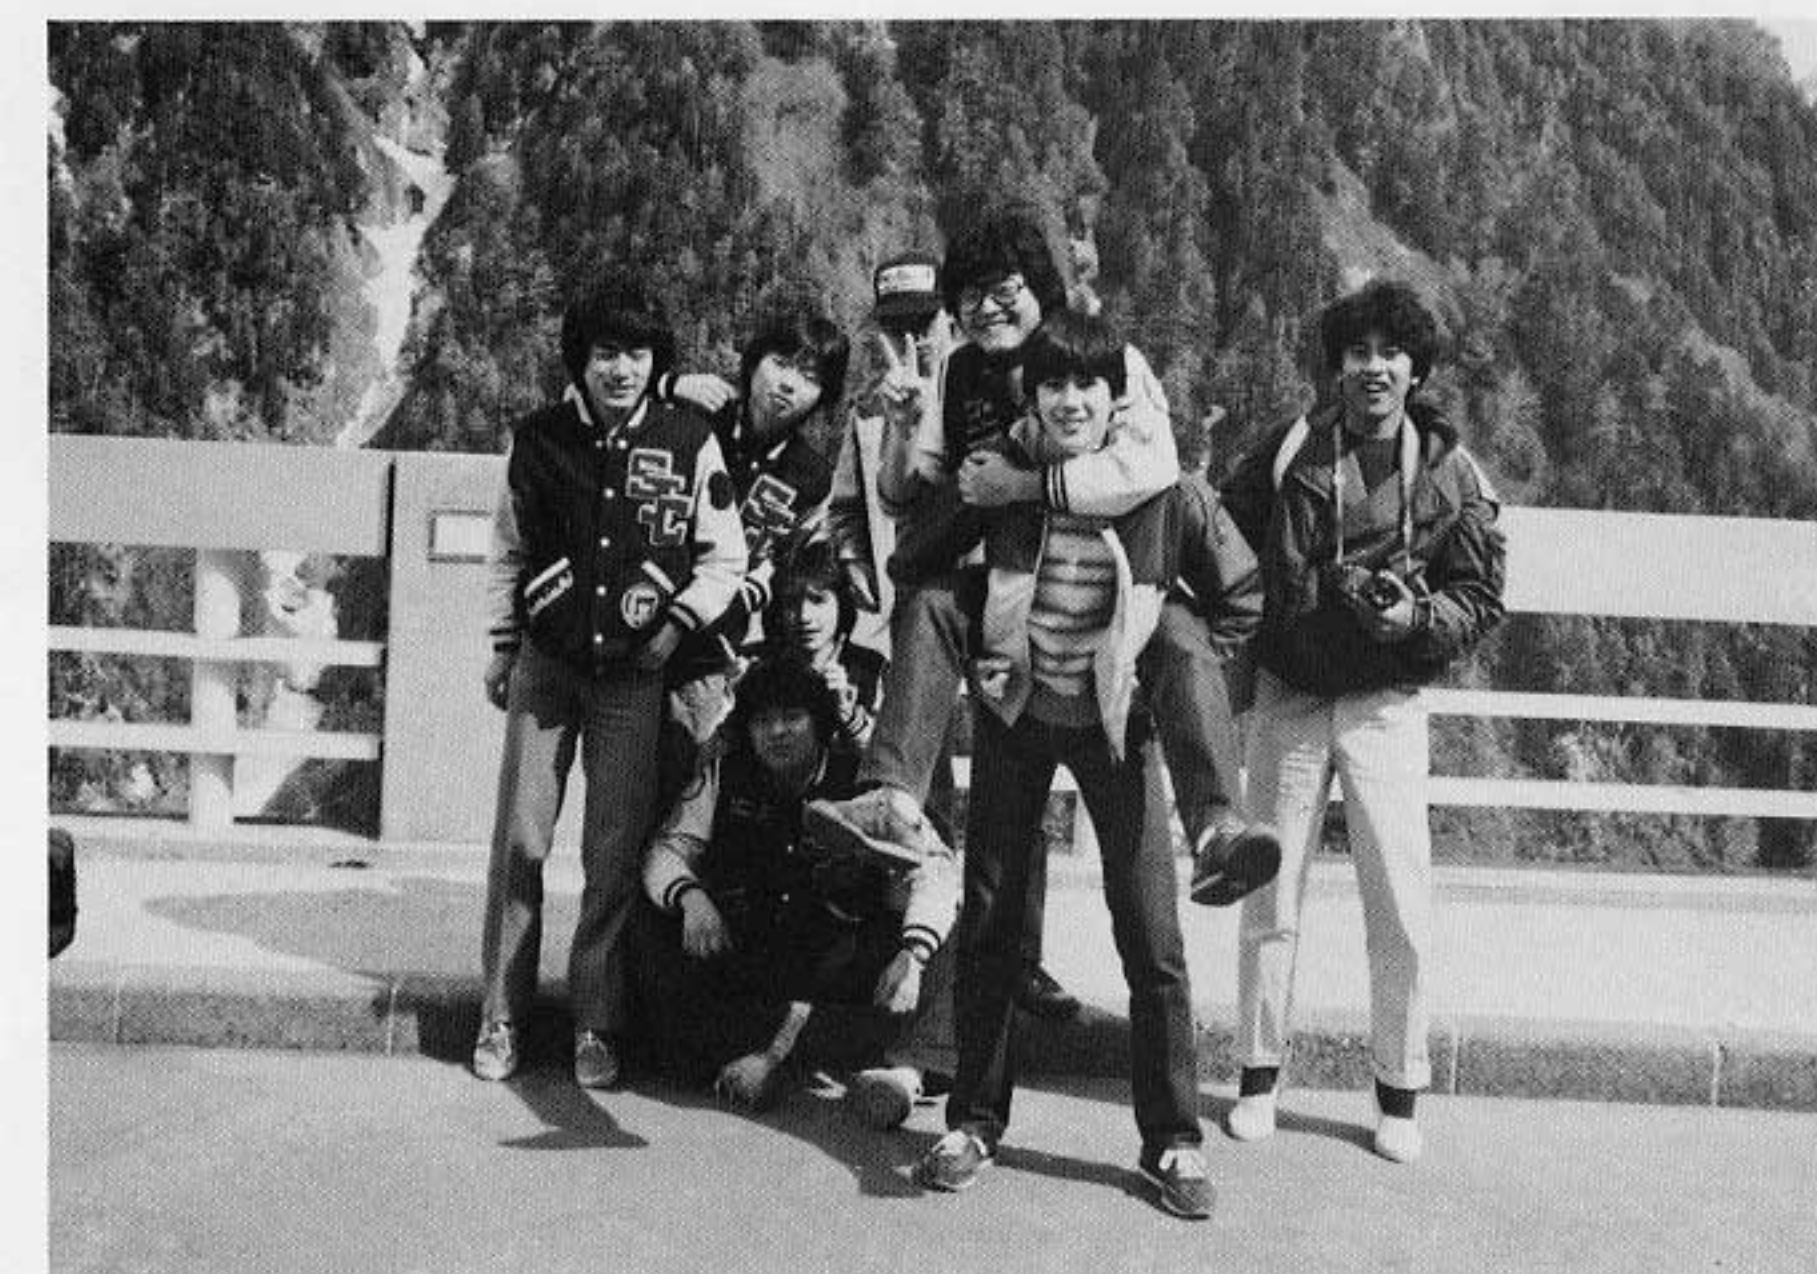

Somehow we all ended up around the long table at the side of the house listening to Ricky's aunt deliver her rambling, grull and beautiful, profane and eloquent eulogy and as the wave of sadness hit us we cried. It wasn't only for Ricky that we wept - somehow we were weeping for each of us and at the same time for all of us.

JUNIORS

Dr. Iqbal Sair

A class is a class is a class. Is not a class simply a group of individuals clustered together to form a conglomerate? Therefore, aren't all the classes identical? If so, what is there to write about any class. God has given birds wings, fish fins, but what has God given to a class? Are unity, pride, cooperativeness, friendliness, honor, knowledge, and love virtues that God has endowed the classes with? If so, the class of '86 serves as an exemplary case to any other class of human race.

I think we are UNIQUE in a sense. Some are good at playing soccer, some like to study, some are clumsy, some have punk hairstyle, some have botchan gari, some like to tease teachers, some do the break dance, some play tricks and joke, some are very quiet, some are rich, some do not shave their moustache,..... but we all have class spirit. We try to do many things as ONE. In intramurals we won only one game but we felt a very strong class spirit.

FRESHMEN

Mr. Authur Stavrinaky

This year, the ninth graders experienced the first year of high school. The year was full of excitement and challenge. We were given the opportunity to go on an excursion. At the same time, we could participate in many activities. All these things happened because all the teachers gave us warm support. We always got together and cooperated with each other. I hope this will happen all the time; and I hope we will remember the ninth grade as the best year.

This year, we had a good team. Especially the two all-star players played "superbly" during the tournament. Every member had a chance to play a game, and it was a great opportunity for future members. I hope that next year's team will win the tournament. Good luck to the next team.

—Ichiro Fujiki—

Although we started the season rather slowly, we picked up impetus, and by the time the tournament came, we had developed into a force to be reckoned with, and shocked both St. Mary's and A. S. I. J. I felt that it was a great pity some players on the team had left it until the last minute to realize their talent; a message to other tennis hopefuls—start now!

This was the first year for St. Joseph to participate in cross-country. The harriers competed at the Junior Varsity level in the Kanto Plains League. In many races we placed first in the league. Next year we will be in the varsity schedule.

—Mr. M. Miron—

Although in September there were 15 members on our team, after two months, there were only five, the five who really tried their best. Each practice was tough and we don't know how many times we were about to quit running, but we somehow made it. We learned how to push ourselves and to be strong minded.

This year we got the 2nd place in KPISSL and we tried our best during the season. We didn't lose a single game on our field, but we were weak in away games so I want next year's team to win in away games. Last year we came in 3rd place and this year we came in 2nd so I hope next year our team would become CHAMPS. I think that SJIS has to beat St. Mary's in order to win the League. Always try your best and give everything you have to the game and then good results will always be seen.

The season went surprisingly well this year. Surprisingly, because it was very obvious from the beginning of the season, that our forward line was rather weak... we didn't have a recognized goal scorer. However, the general team spirit was very good this year and it was this that carried us through many tough games. I cannot fault the team members' efforts in those difficult games against A.S.I.J., St. Mary's and Yokota, they really played their hearts out. In the end we had a chance to win the League, actually I believed we deserved to, but it was not to be. Anyway the soccer team members can feel proud of their performances (Y.I.S. ???!), I don't think they will forget this season. I really enjoyed the games, but aged about five years waiting for the winning goals.

Many people joked that the basketball team never won. I say joked, because now they can no longer do so. I think that the main reason for the change was the hard work and training which the players put in to create a team rather than a group of people playing together. Our team-work surprised even A.S.I.J. for the first half of our last game there.

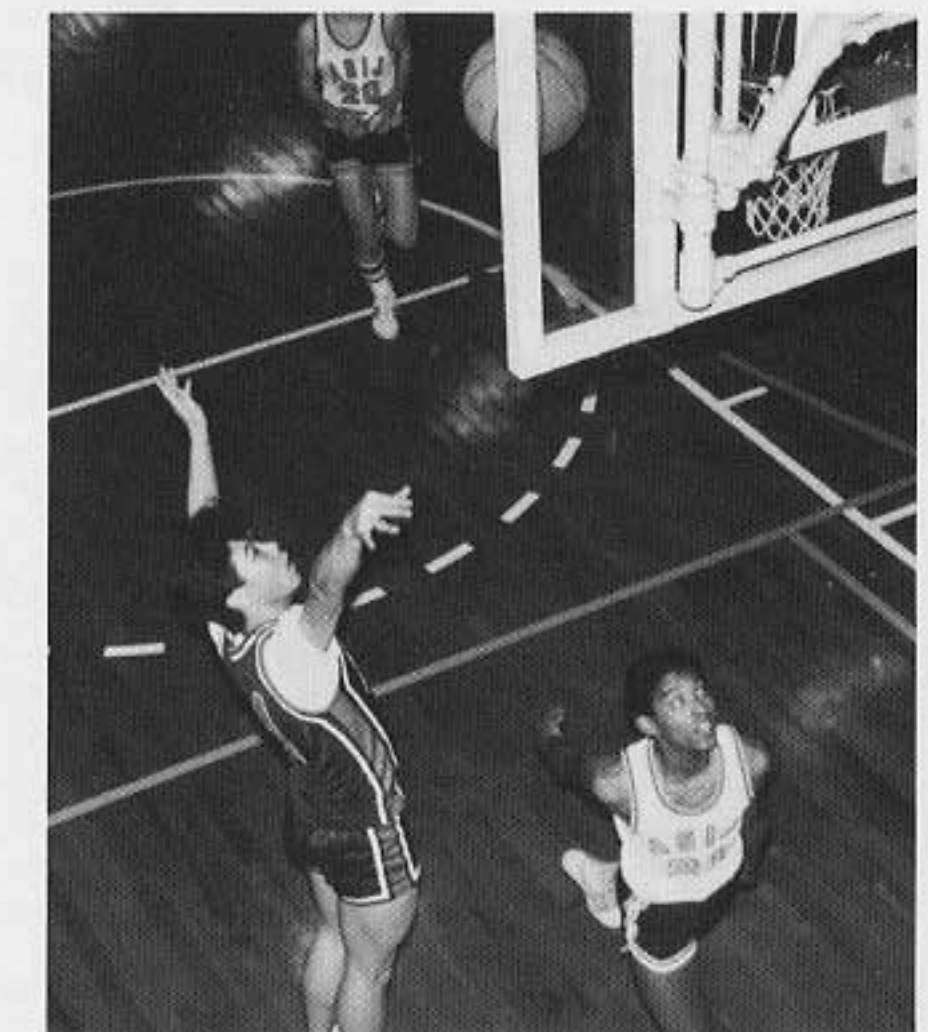

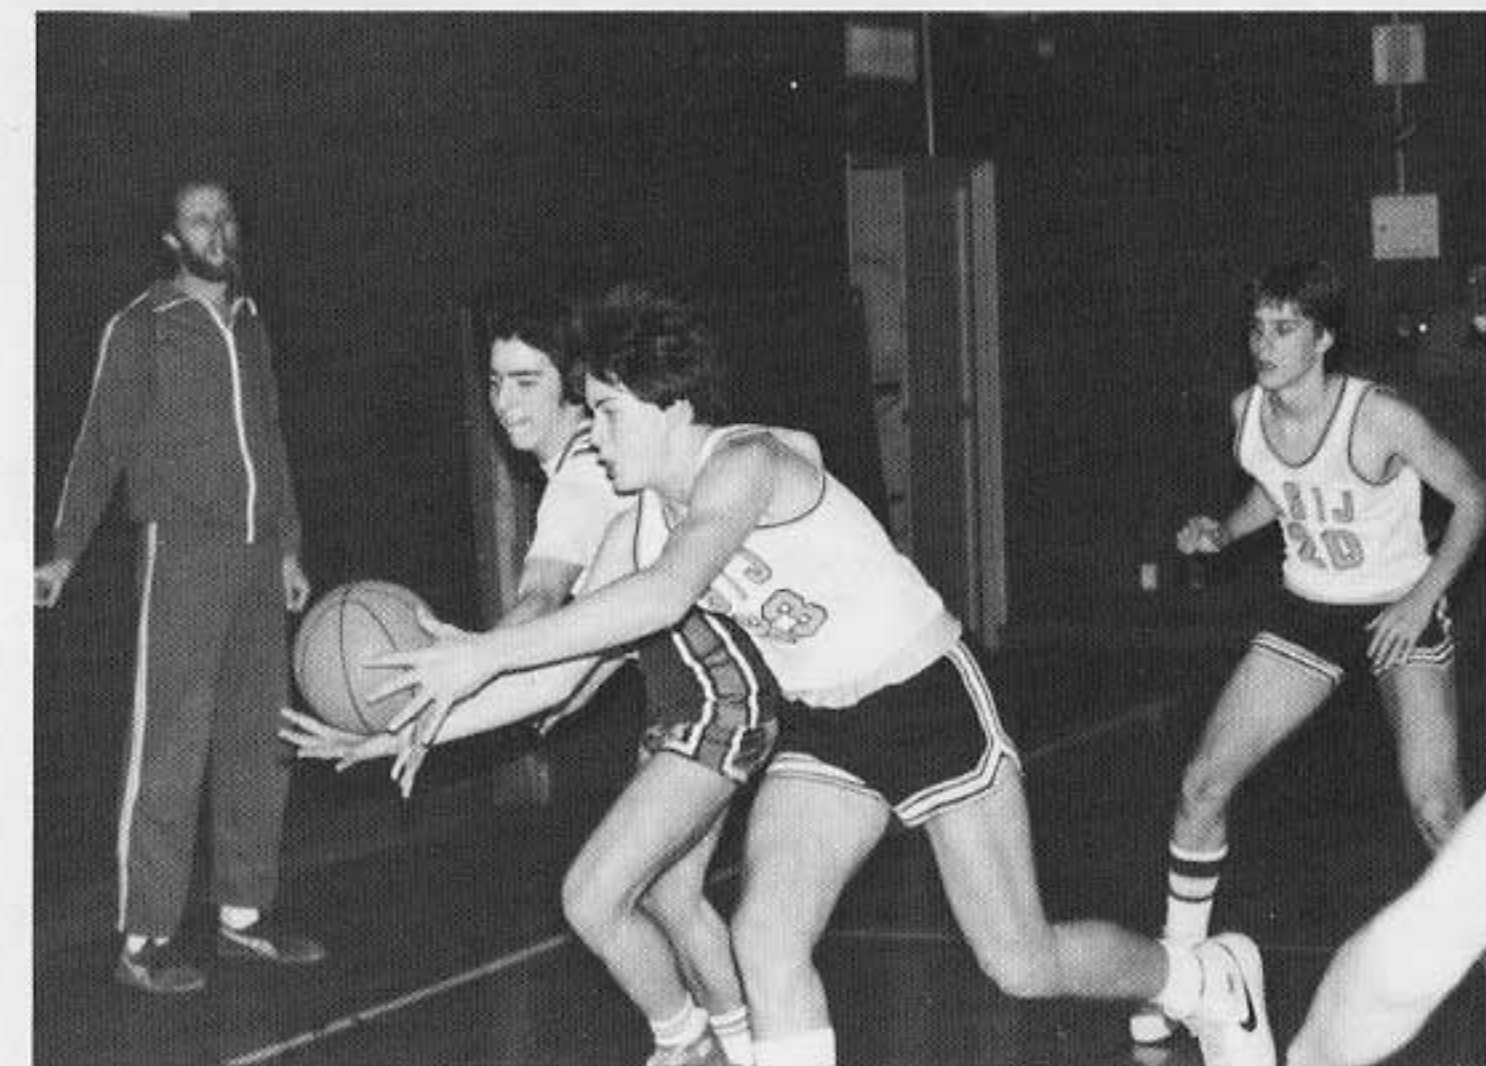

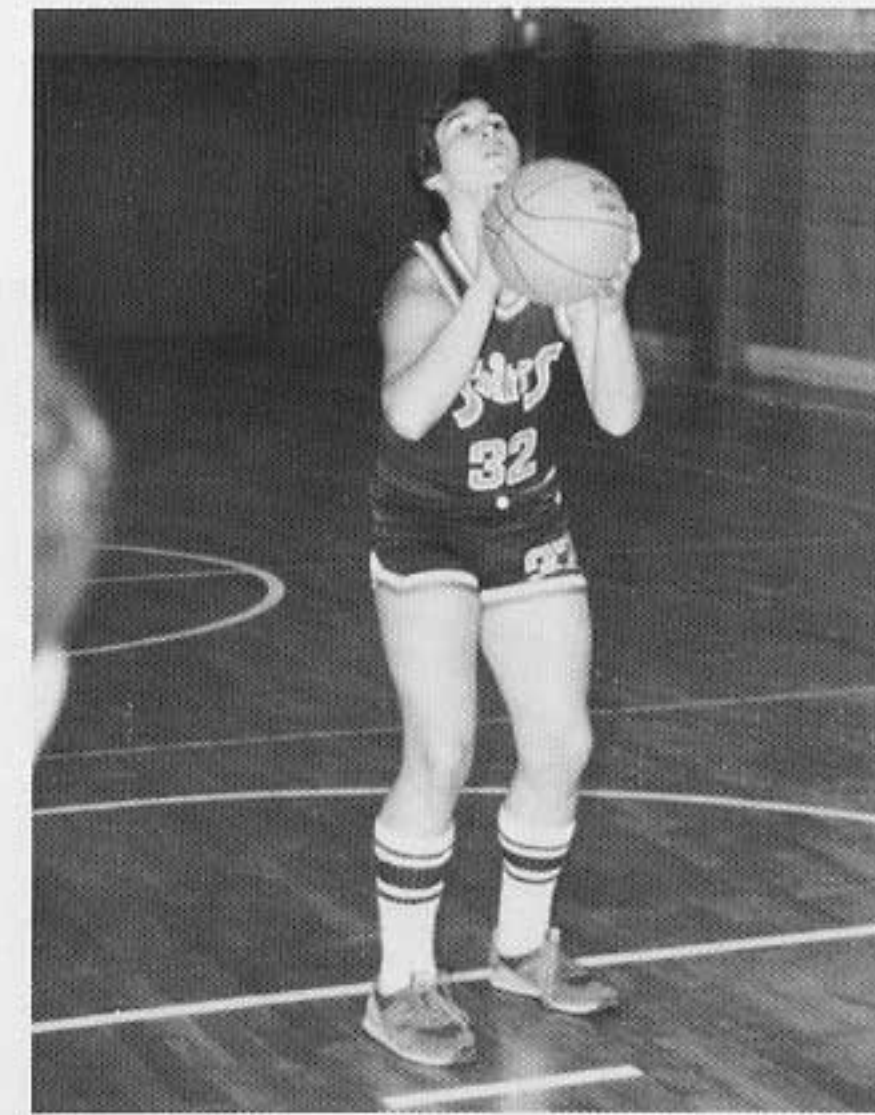

—Mr. D. Priest—

Although our team hasn't participated in any League, we have done an excellent job. All the team members have improved their technique under the excellent coaching of Mr. Priest. We hope this good work will continue next year.

Chronicle '85

Editor: Johnny Tominaga

From the somber opening December issue which featured Ricky Forinash's tragic death, through the bitter-sweet soccer focus in March, and culminating in our "last hurrah" in June; the three 1984-1985 CHRONICLES have been both enjoyable fun to read as well as truly thought provoking. Our energy came from a burning sense of enthusiasm without which the emotion packed photography, rich but real prose, and outstanding graphics wouldn't have happened! Editor-in-Chief Tokushi (Johnny) Tominaga successfully led a handful of devoted staff members, through example and vision, to previously undreamed of height of semi-professional journalism.

Although I wasn't much of a president, (sometimes an occasional one), I would like to give my deepest gratitude to the moderator for abiding with the difficulties I had caused him this year. In addition, I would like to thank my fellow members and all the people who made my last year a prosperous one. I have high hopes for the future Thespians and would like to wish them the best of luck in pursuing the highly intellectual tradition in dramatics at our Alma Mater. The momentous experience I have had shall never be effaced "from the table of my memory."

President - Taiken Jo

Granted last year's seniors have left a monumental legacy behind them, the present members of the SJIS Drama Club are bound to leave an even greater one in years to come. The core of the group consists of those who are now classified as sophomores, and applicants with significant potential are continually knocking on the door. This is hardly surprising, since it happens to be the only student organization that concomitantly develops five aspects of learning vital to a successful future: self-expression, body control, awareness of physical and psychic reality, linguistic excellence, and a realization of cultural universals. Not only is grammatical and lexical proficiency reinforced through participation; the classical laws of proportion, rhythm, and balance liberate each dedicated participant from the lethargy unredeemed by artistic perception. As Frederick Turner has so aptly and aphoristically stated in a recent article on modern aesthetics: "We have a nature; that nature is cultural; that culture is classical."

Most of our plays have been written by American and British playwrights. This January, however, the world witnessed an unprecedented phenomenon: a topical tragedy written in English by a fourteen year old Japanese genius. The youthful playwright himself appeared in the main role at the Kanto Plains Drama Festival.

On a personal basis, I find it both edifying and rewarding to work with the present group of my young actors, and I would not trade them for any I have had in the past, notwithstanding the grateful memories that will always linger. On the surface, we may appear to be at loggerheads on occasions; in reality, we form a solid and harmonious whole. Perhaps this stems from the way I view those who join my activity and prove loyal until their graduation. No matter how minor the role an individual may happen to obtain within a play, to me he shall always be a star, or perhaps even a planet, in the firmament I can gaze at during my brief sojourn on earth. Even in the rare cases of voluntary departure or resignation, he simply becomes one of those scintillating bodies that appear to fall with increasing celerity in the nocturnal sky: he has merely eclipsed himself from my sight, but I bear him no malice.

My appreciation also extends to those who help us with our creations, and especially to the guest actresses from our neighbouring schools. It is thanks to them, as well as to some of my colleagues who assist us, that we can put on our plays. We are now working on one which an Englishwoman dedicated to the memory of her father over forty years ago. It touches on various vital aspects of our human experience: love, disenchantment, death, hypocrisy, heroism, despair, trust, redemption, and, above all, hope.

Every man who rises above the common level has received two education: the first from his teachers; the second, more personal and important, from himself.

Mr. C. Chang

The Seventh Grade of 1984-85 is proud of its unity and togetherness. But it is not a melting pot. Rather, it is a tapestry of talents and uniquenesses. The boys live in harmony and continuously grow as good human beings amid warm friendship, mutual trust and respect, and a spirit of forgiveness free of arrogance.

—7th Grade Homeroom—

Each of us has his own speciality in something. One may be good in friendship, but not so good in studies. We all try our best in our talents. We all have different nationalities, but we worked together to make the 7th year a good year.

Soccer : I am lucky to have so many boys keen on soccer from Grade 5 through 8. as I always have had in the past. The only disadvantage of the team is the lack of young members - keep your good work. Shoaib (the only 4th grader)!

Tennis : The Tennis team and coach are struggling. but not many members! This might be the last year for The SJIS Grade School Tennis team. Sorry Tony!

Choir : The Choir is also full of kids enthusiastic about music. but again I lack young members. Stay in the grade school. Yoshiaki!

Events 1984~1985

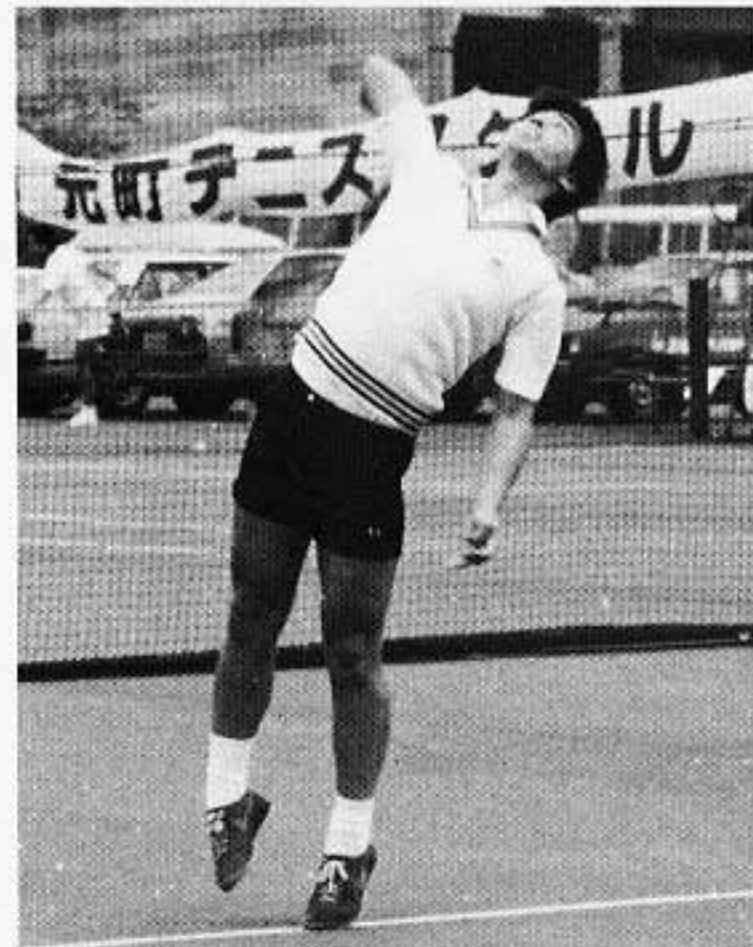

FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL 5th

A hot summer day, school began again. Though many did not anticipate this day, once we got here we were happy to see old friends and some new ones.

OPENING MASS 7th

The annual opening mass was conducted by Fr. Mueller at the Sacred Heart Cathedral. The mass was given in hope for a wonderful school year to all. All the white shirts made the cathedral seem a much brighter place than usual.

TENNIS SEASON BEGINS 10th

The tennis season began this day under the coaching of Mr. David Priest, and Ichiro Fujiki as captain. The "three practices a week" were by no means easy and probably there wasn't any player who did not make any progress during the season.

BASEBALL GAME: GRADUATES vs. STUDENTS 10th

On this sunny day, a baseball game took place between the graduates of the school and the present students. The game was a "see-saw" game and no one could tell which side would win till the end, but it finally resulted in the graduates overcoming the students. The students could not defeat the superior talents of the graduates.

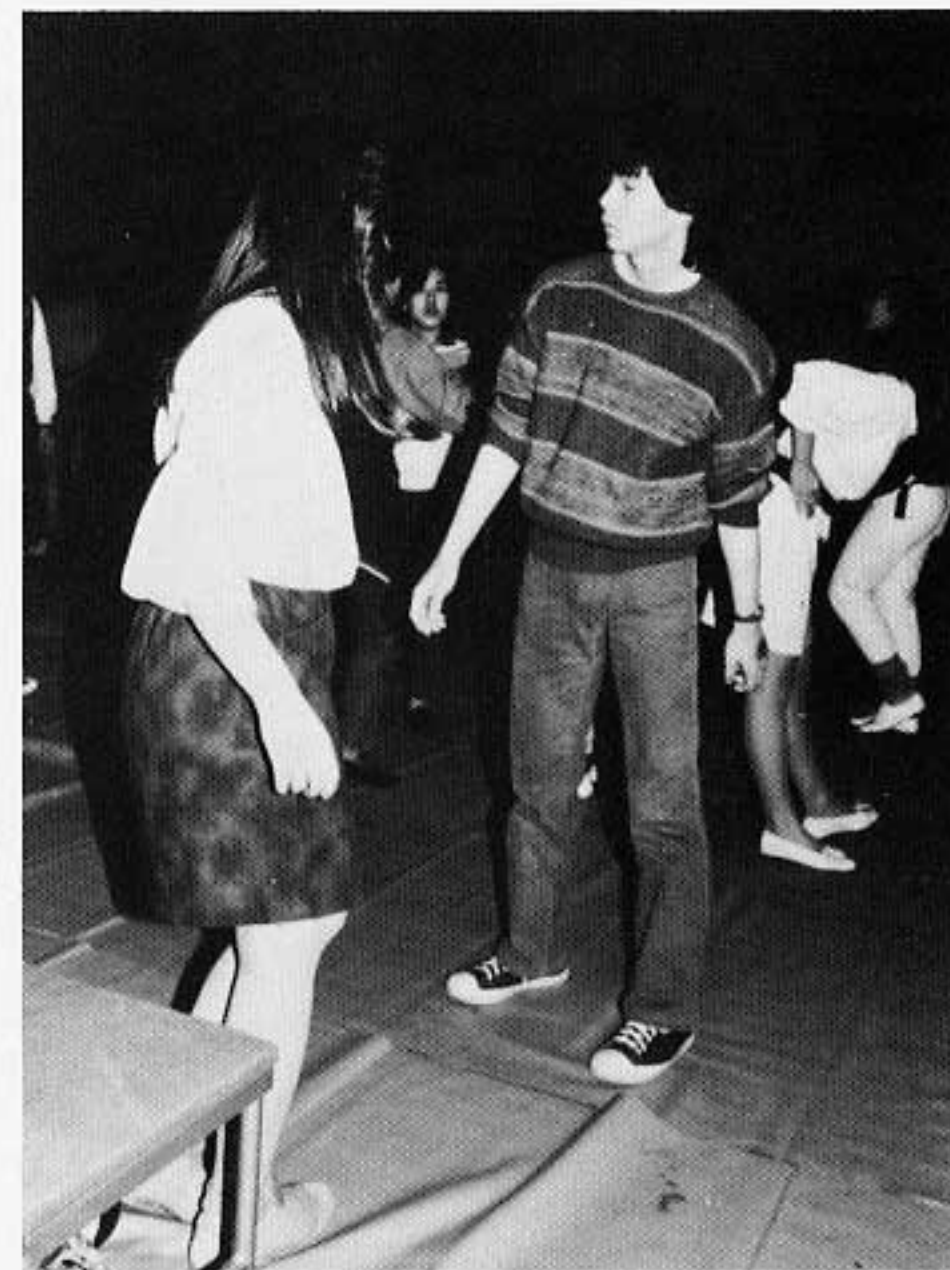

CROSS COUNTRY SEASON

A new activity usually ends up in a failure for the first year. This was by no means true for the cross country team this year. The hard work the team members put in was reflected by the smashing results they got. In one race Ben Miyagawa ended up second and Nicholai Ninomiya ended up fourth. This shows a bright future for the coming cross country teams, all owing to the excellent coaching and hard work of Mr. Miron.

STATE OF SHOCK 6th

The Social Committee put on its first dance, "State of Shock" this day. Jimmy Takeuchi the Chairman as well as DJ was in charge. The dance itself was very successful, considering it was the first one of the year, which usually doesn't go so successfully.

TENNIS SEASON CONCLUDED 9th

The tennis season concluded with the final tournament at Yo-Hi. Fortunately, two players, Hironori Kaneko and John Enderle, were able to win all-star patches ending rounder-up for the boys doubles. The other participants also tried their best.

SOCCER GAME: FACULTY vs. SOCCER TEAM 29th

This soccer game, another traditional event, was played on our field after school this day. Both teams played very skillfully but the soccer team, probably with their youth, overpowered the teachers. Once again we were told that the results didn't matter, the sportsmanship did.

MOTHER TERESA 20th

The entire high school went to Sacred Heart International School to hear Mother Teresa, a Nobel Prize winner, speak. Her talk, which lasted an hour was very interesting at the same time as being priceless to many of us. For many students it was the first time a Nobel Prize winner spoke directly to them, an event which will remain in their minds for a long time.

NENJI TAIKAI 11th

The Interact Club travelled to Nihon Kohan to its annual Nenji Taikai. They saw how steel was made and also rode a boat and sailed around Kawasaki. This was an excellent opportunity for all members to make new friends outside of school.

MACBETH 16th

All high school students were busy this day. After school let out, we dashed home to get changed and to get down to Shinjuku to see a Shakespearean play of "Macbeth" put on by an English production. We were all able to see "real acting" close at hand. Though the new "Fuei" law was not established at this time, no one ended up in Kabuki-cho, fortunately.

BONFIRE 21th

The Bonfire was held on the night of this day. Sponsored by the Student Council Welfare Committee, the festival included several diverse booths set up by the different committees, clubs and the high school classes. There were not only food booths but also games that people of all ages could enjoy. The main "fire" was put out at ten o'clock but it seemed that the energy of the night still could be detected in the deserted field.

SOCCER SEASON BEGINS

The first official practice was held this day. The soccer team launched off, Mr. Morgan as their coach, with high hopes of winning the championship. Every single practice was tough and every player had to really try hard in order to keep up with the practices. To be able to play in a game, a player had to keep practicing, once he slackened off he would be kicked out of the team.

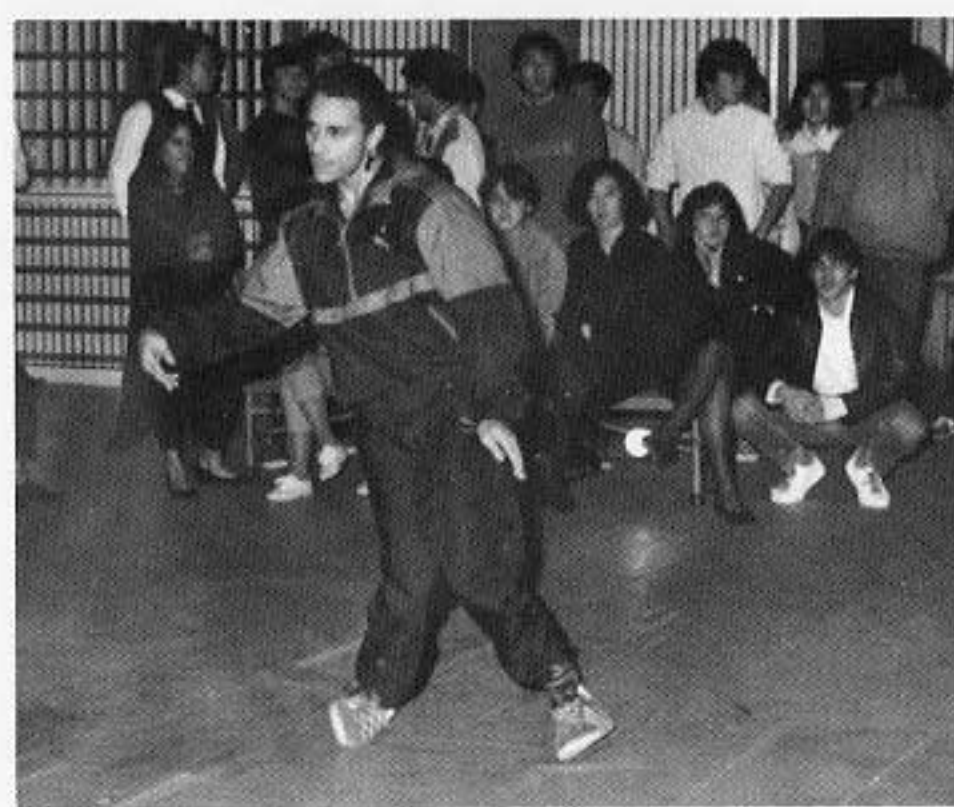

BASKETBALL SEASON STARTS 12th

The basketball season began this day, in our small but big gymnasium under the coaching of Mr. David Priest, a very active man. The beginning of the season was spent with very few games but each member improved his skills at each practice. Louis Chen, the captain, showed his talents as well as leadership throughout the season.

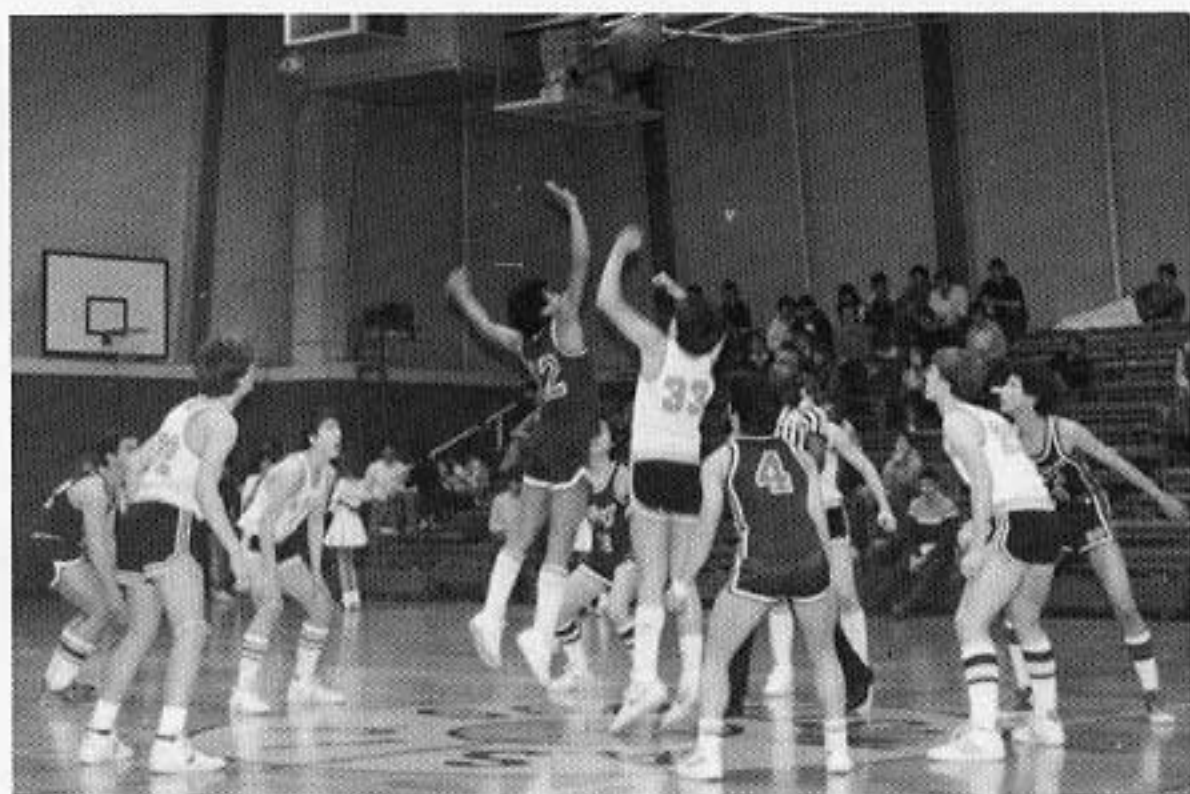

NIGHT WALKER 25th

The second dance "Night Walker", another successful dance, was staged by the Social Committee this day. About 100 people were present at this dance. Not only was the dance profitable, but the set-up and clean up was also very brief due to the hard work of the underclassmen and the leadership of the seniors.

BRAIN BOWL TOURNAMENT 30th

The SJIS team is in a building phase after the departure of the illustrious "Senior of '84". Although the team did not place very high, the experience was valuable, and hopefully with the beginning of a junior-high Brain Bowl team this year the future will be very bright.

INTERACT: TRIP TO TAIWAN 22nd-26th

The trip to Taiwan has shown the sociability of the Interact students. They were able to exchange ideas and were able to enhance international understanding, the motto of the Interact club.

CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY 20th-21st

The Drama Club entertained both high school and grade school students with the play "Christmas Carol", a performance perfectly matching the joyful season. The play itself was fun to watch with all the dancing and singing. The audience was overwhelmed when Hilton and Santos showed us their talents in "break dancing", the fad of the time. The guest actors from St. Maur's also performed extremely well.

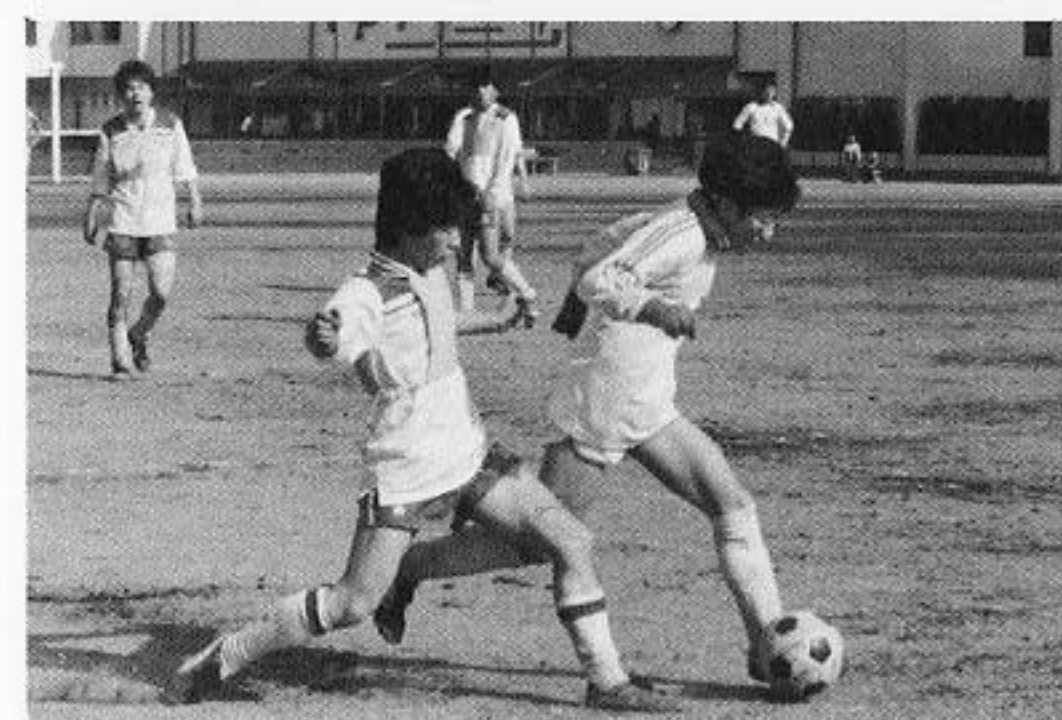

ORPHANAGE PARTY 28th

The annual Interact-Sodality orphanage Christmas party was held this day. The participating members went over to Seibo Aijien to entertain or rather to be entertained by the bright and active orphans. The program included many games and also refreshments. SJIS's spirit of good-will was manifested in this successful event, an event matching the season of Christmas.

CHIBIKKO SOCCER TOURNAMENT

The grade school soccer team participated in the Chibikko Soccer Tournament during this time. There were two divisions-the junior high school and the grade school divisions. Both tried their best on all games and the grade school division took the 3rd place, a great feat owing mainly to the enthusiastic coaching of Mr. Mikami.

1st SEMESTER ENDS

Halfway through. The first Semester ended with the semester tests, report cards and the dreaded parent-teacher meeting. After this meeting some students were praised but many were scolded by their parents. Anyway, all of us started the second half with refreshed hearts and also thinking of the coming summer vacation.

SKI TRIP 14th-16th

The ski trip this year was to Shiga Kogen. In addition to Fr. Mueller, Mr. Priest joined the team. The entire trip lasted three days and it was full of excitement in the white land. The 22 all enjoyed the entire opportunity.

SOCCER SEASON ENDS

The season ended with the final tournament at Zama. Though we couldn't place very high in this tournament, we ended up 2nd, unfortunately the championship in the Kanto Plains League. Yoshimitsu Yamamoto served as the captain, pulling the team especially with his big voice. The season therefore was a success and new hope is put into next year's team.

SPEECH CONTEST 16th

After the departure of the "intellectual class of '84", we were worried what will happen to the speech contest, but it ended up in success. The contest was held at our school this year and with the help of National Honor Society everything went smoothly. We didn't get any prize but we surely put up a tough fight. Once again we showed the other schools the existence of SJIS.

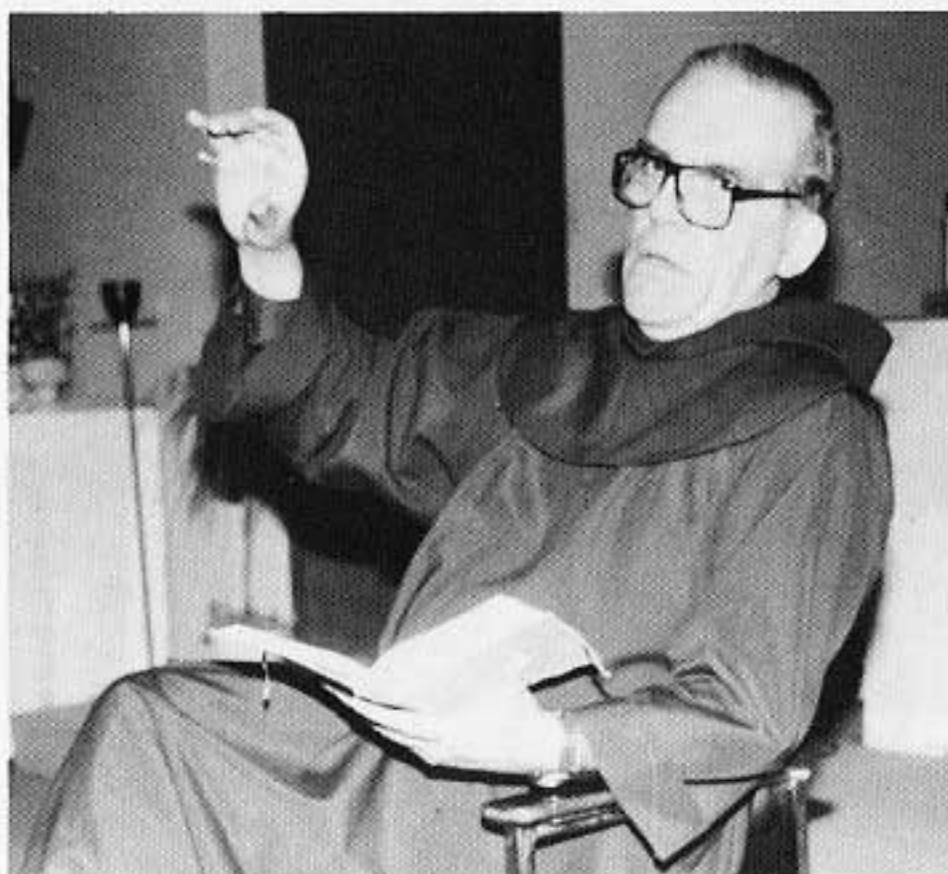

RETREAT 19th-22nd

Grade 7-12 had their retreat on these days. The retreat master this year was Fr. Williams from the St. Franciscan Center in Roppongi. This was a very refreshing event for all the students, and Fr. William's talks were very helpful for our future. The high school students were also glad to be able to go out for lunch.

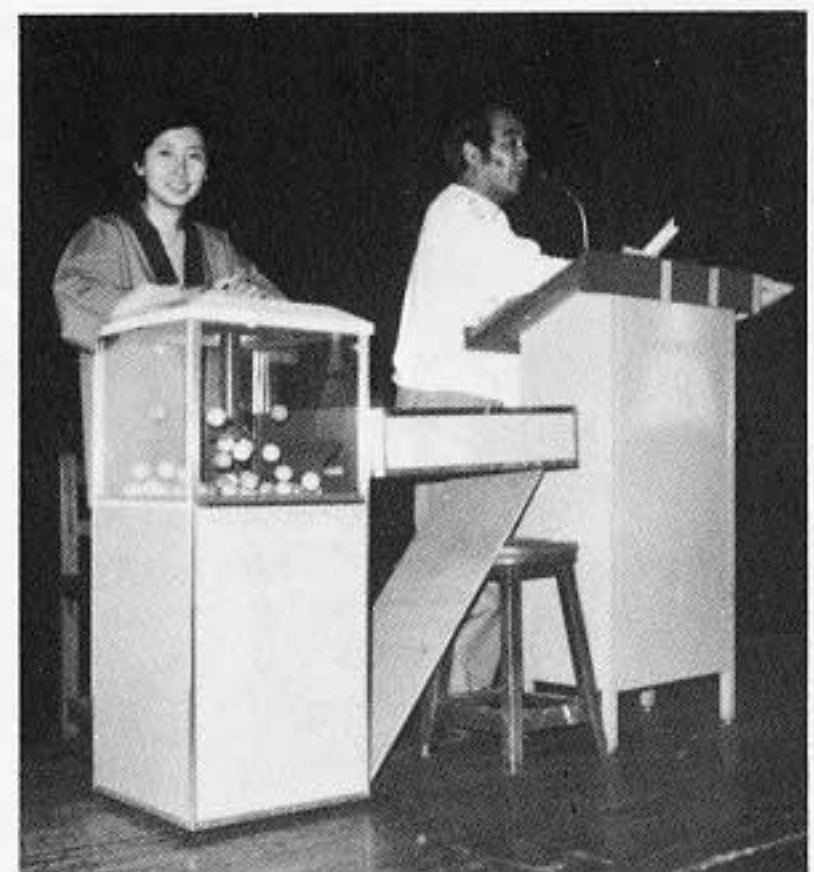

NEUTRON DANCE 23rd

The third social dance, "Neutron Dance" was held this day. Coincidentally the title of the dance was the same as St. Mary's dance which was held a week prior, but anyone who went to both dances would immediately say that ours was more exciting!

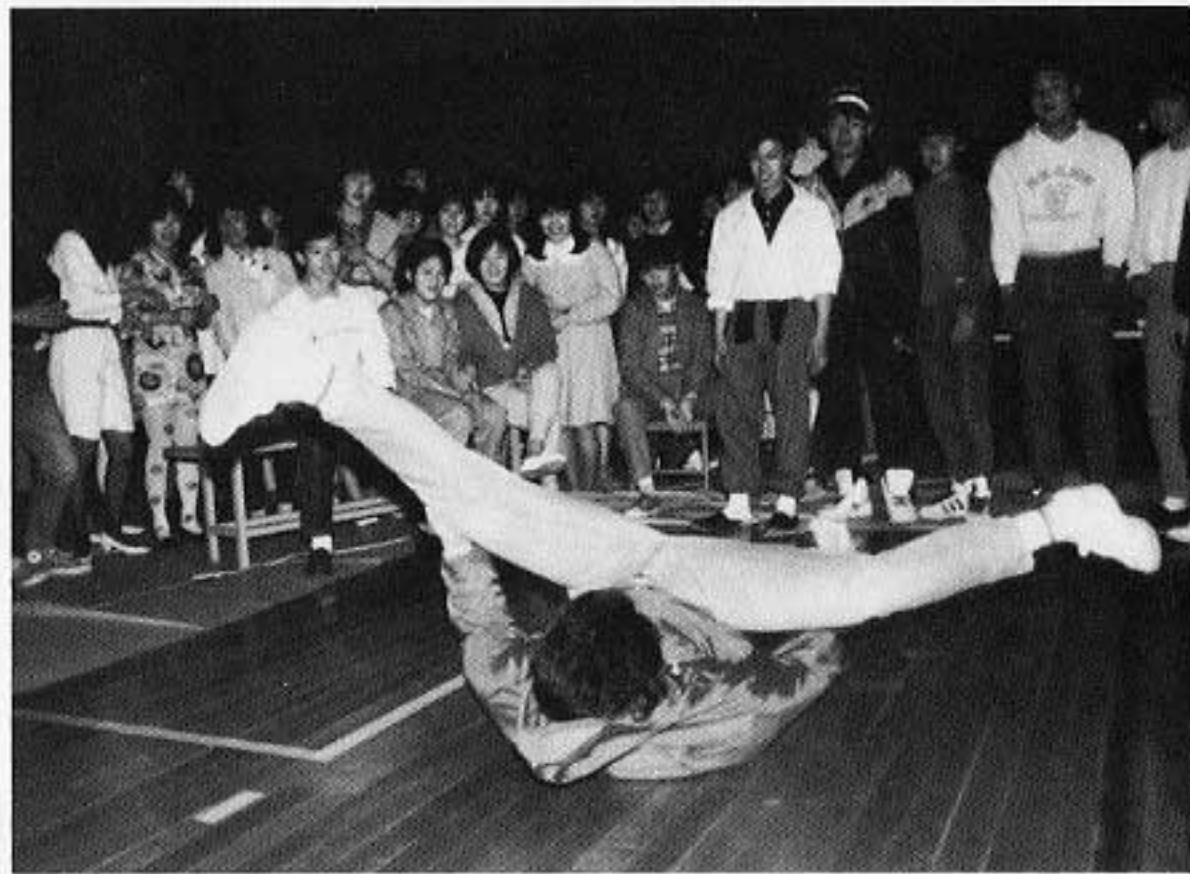

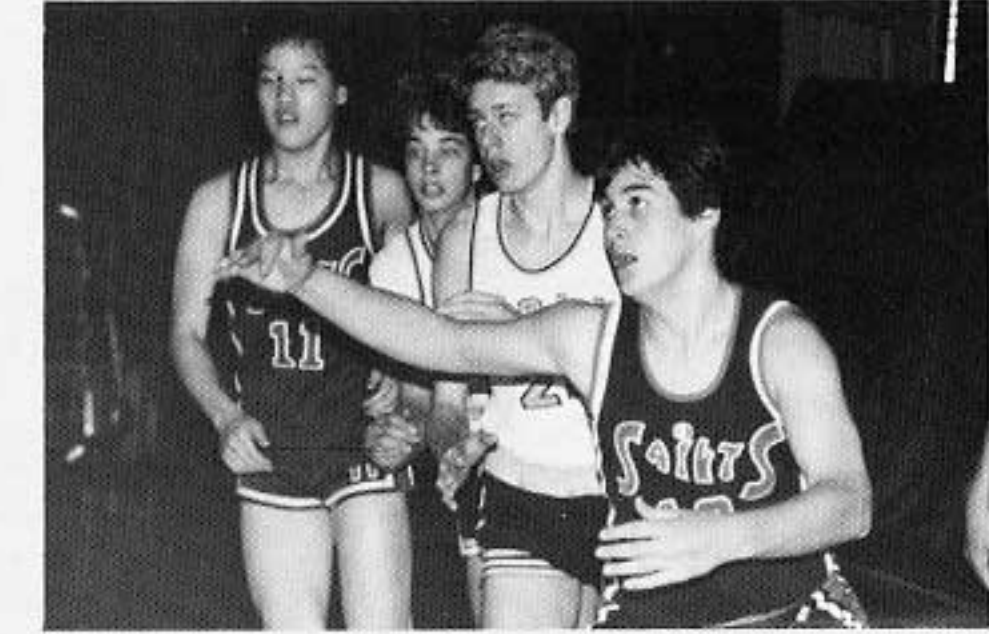

BINGO - FOOD - FAIR 30th-31st

Everyone was worried about the weather for the Bingo-Food-Fair but it fortunately didn't rain to any great extent. The Bingo and raffle prizes were gorgeous as usual and many happy smiles could be seen. SJIS's "internationality" was clearly seen with the food from so many different countries. Sunday, the second day, the turnout was even more than the previous day, due to the fine weather. The mothers and fathers of the students showed their offsprings what real cooperation was, by giving their endless help.

BASKETBALL SEASON ENDS 21st

The basketball season concluded itself with a win over a Japanese school in Honmoku. Though some players could not attend due to some "problems", the other players tried hard to bring us this final victory. No one doubted that the season was an overall success. James Keating was "hot" in the game against ASU and was the game's top scorer. Though he unfortunately got himself fouled off, he gave us a great feeling of how we should fight.

MATH CONTEST 25th

The annual math contest was held at Sacred Heart International School this year. The "mathematicians" of St. Joseph trodded in to win all the all-star patches, but unfortunately ended up in none. The participants all tried their best, for themselves and for the school. Though we didn't win any prize, the contestants made the other schools realize the existence of SJIS, and the year which we really would win all the patches.

REBECCA 12th-13th

The high-lite for the Drama Club each year is the three act play. This year, as expected, Rebecca turned out in an undeniable success. The enthusiasm of the performance was immediately transmitted to the audience making both nights seem terribly short. In addition to all the performers, special mention should be made of George Zee, the president and Mr. Stavrinaky, the moderator both for their hard work and long time spent for the production. These two may be the ones who really "warmed" the cold auditorium.

TRACK AND FIELD SEASON

Another activity that started this year was Track and Field. With Mr. Miron and Mr. Priest as coaches, students were trained to participate in 100m, 200m, 400m, 800m, 1600m, long jump, shot put, discus throw, etc., among other international schools. As an activity that started this year, it was undoubtedly successful owing to the hard work of both the coaches and athletes. This activity will probably continue in the coming years, and a bright future is hoped for it.

BASEBALL SEASON

The baseball season was a productive one with Mr. Kobo as the coach. The success of the season was due to the leadership of the captain, Jochi Sho, but more to the talents manifested by the participating seniors. Young Suk, an all-star player, played especially well though he had an injured knee. The season itself concluded with the final tournament at Yokota.

FIELD DAY 29th

The annual Field Day was a complete success this year. Was their ever a field day where so much sportsmanship was found? All the participating students tried their very best to win. Everyone was told that the results weren't important; trying is. The results show that by the end of the day the yellow team overcame the other teams, mainly because of their superior teamwork.

ROCK SHOW 27th
The night was a one of bursting energy. The turnout was far more than expected, and the audience all enjoyed the evening. The "Handa Plast" put on by the Student Council Welfare Committee was both successful and profitable. Bands from our school, and also others showed us their talents as musicians. You never know; we might have heard a selection from future star.

SO LONG 25th
The last dance "So Long" concluded the job of the Social Committee. The turnout was larger than the previous three and it brought profit to the Student Council. All four dances showed the sociability of SJIS with people from many schools participating in it.

TRIP TO TSUKUBA EXPO '85 8th-9th

On these days the 7th-12th graders were given the opportunity to go see the exposition at Tsukuba. They spent a night in a "space cabin" and had the time to look around the various pavilions. Though it was a little crowded, the students all enjoyed the experience. IBM gathered the most fame among students and most of them had a look in this pavilion.

SENIOR EXCURSION 27th-31th

The Seniors went to Okinawa for their excursion this year. They left Haneda on Tuesday and stayed at Hotel Ekka for three nights. They enjoyed their stay, experienced different marine sports. Since it was the last time the class was going to be together, they made many good memories.

BACCALAUREATE MASS 6th

The annual baccalaureate mass and dinner, given in honor to the senior class, was given in our chapel this day. Many parents and relatives came to see this ceremony. Many awards were given to the graduating class during the supper that followed at Isogo Prince Hotel.

8th GRADE GRADUATION 8th

The 8th grade graduation began at 10:00am this day. Many parents came to see their sons graduate from grade school. The ceremony went smoothly and ended in success.

SENIOR GRADUATION 8th

This was the big evening. The class of 1985 had its graduation. The auditorium was filled with many people. The guest speaker was Mr. Joseph Hale of the alumni who congratulated the class. The seniors started a new journey this day.

FORWARD STAFF

1985

Moderator : Mr. P. Eymard

Dear Chong—Kiong,

You were the editor. We unanimously agree that you really did an outstanding job. Though the moderator complained that you were using too much of the budget, we all thank you for making a "rekidai" Forward. We are sorry for troubling you the whole time with diverse problems but we think it all was a good memory. At one time we were really worried that you were getting neurotic with your hysterics, but it seems you overcame it by the end. Not only the staff but the whole senior class thank you for making the Forward of our graduating year a great one. Take a break, and sleep well.

—Seniors—

Editor-in-Chief

Dear Mike,

Seconding the editor, you came the most. You mastered your job of the ads layout. When the business manager was in the hospital, you skillfully took over his job too. Though you messed up the room and stunk up the room, you showed up when needed. We are sorry that there weren't enough of your snaps. Good luck at "Jochi".

—Forward Staff—

Ads Layout Editor & Ass't Business Manager

Dear Jimmy,

Were you really the photo editor?? Was there a single time that there were sufficient pictures? You used up a lot of the budget just to produce many "botsu" Pictures and frequently destroyed valuable films that were of use. How many times did you re—take Grade School tennis team? As irresponsible as you were, you were very hard—working and spent many long hours in the dark room. We know that this Forward would never have been this successful if you weren't there. Thank you very much and best wishes to you and Kaori.

—Forward Staff—

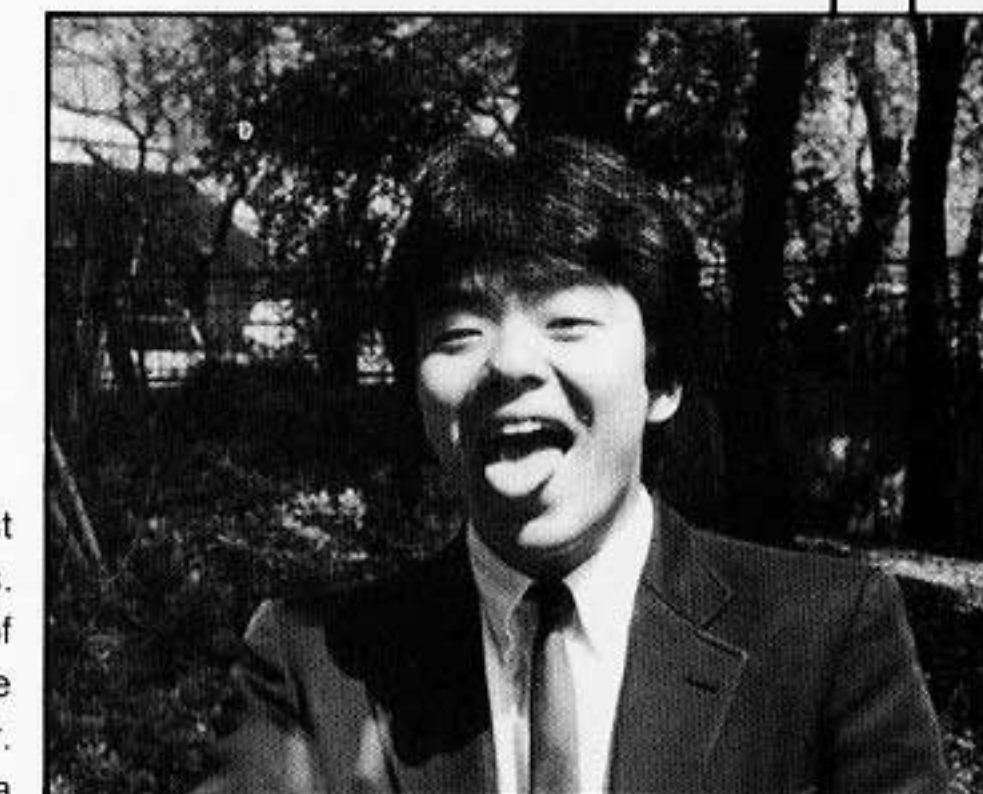

Photo Editor

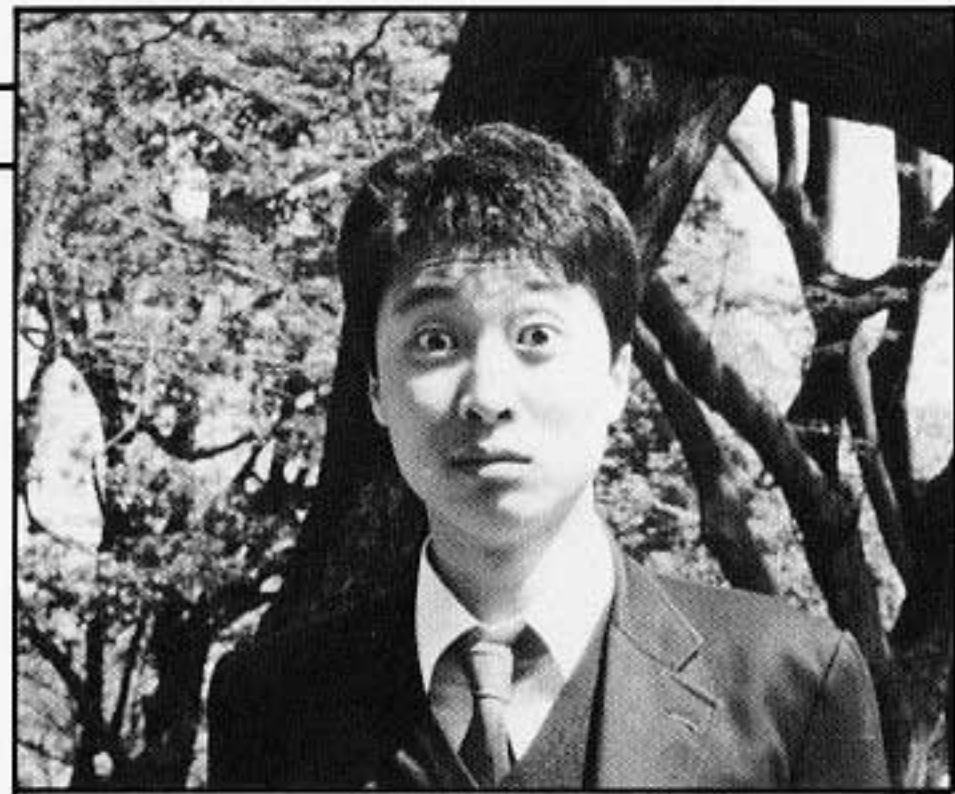

Dear Ryutaro,

You were one of the most hard—working among us. This brought you the job of the layout editor — the toughest after the editor. You executed this job a little fragilly but somehow got through it. You were a very fast worker — only when you were here. Thank you for enduring with the lazy staff. Have a good time in New York.

—Forward Staff—

Layout Editor

Dear Masahiko,

In the beginning you helped out a lot. Towards the middle of the year, because of your continuous hospitalization, you couldn't help us very often.

This brought about a lot of trouble but in the end you showed us your responsibility by selling ten pages of ads in a week. This year there was an increase in the number of pictures, number of pages and literary work. Why wasn't there an increase in the number of ads? Anyway, you supported the editor by helping him with miscellaneous work. We all agree that you will succeed in life. Thank you for your help and good luck!

—Forward Staff—

Business Manager

Dear John,

You became the literary editor for only one reason. There wasn't any other suitable person who knew English in the staff. Though you troubled all of us (especially the typist) with your "artistic" handwriting, you did satisfactory job. You were really good at deadlines. We're sure that you couldn't keep a single deadline. The only time you came, you weren't really needed. You were never there when we really needed you. It seems you've been losing in pachinko, but we sympathize with you. We know you will be a success later in life, but we hope you'll become a lawyer you wanted to be. The best luck with H.M.

—Forward Staff—

Literary Editor

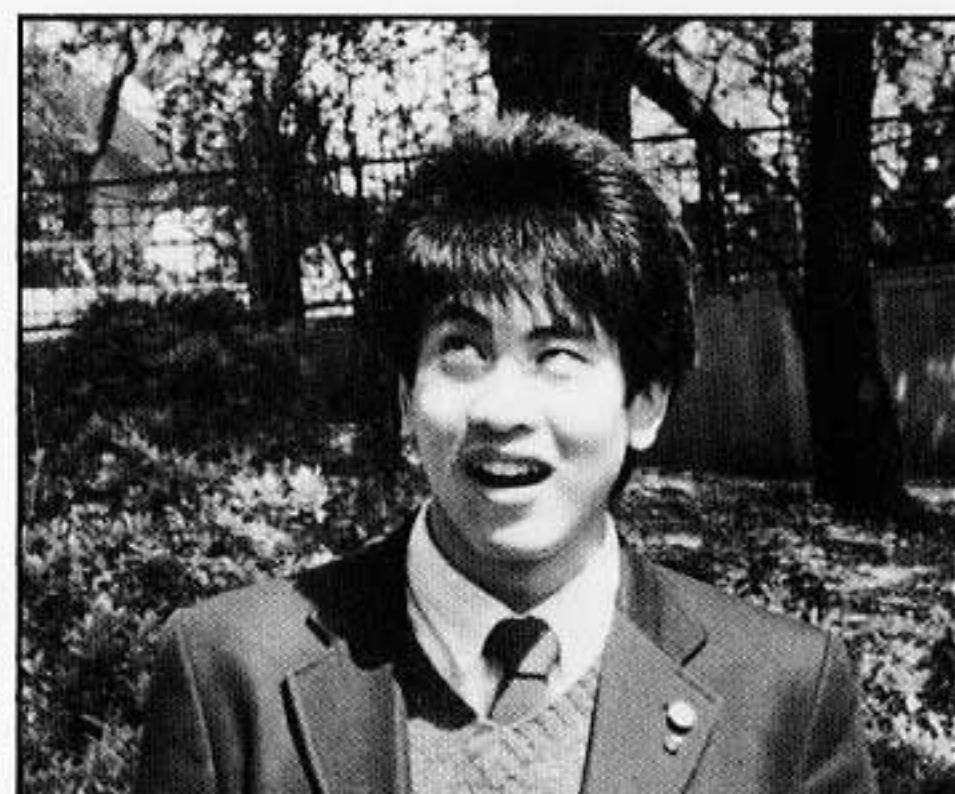

Dear Jay,

You were absolutely hopeless. Having the simplest job of typing, you couldn't even do this properly. How many cartridges did you waste?

How much paper did you waste? Why did we have to buy a new typewriter for you? How many times did you trouble the literary editor with your typing errors? As hopeless as you were, by the end of the year, the speed of your typing increased and errors became much fewer. You came quite often, were very helpful, and rarely complained. We are sorry for always making you the victim. Thanks for all your hard work.

—Forward Staff—

Chief-Typist

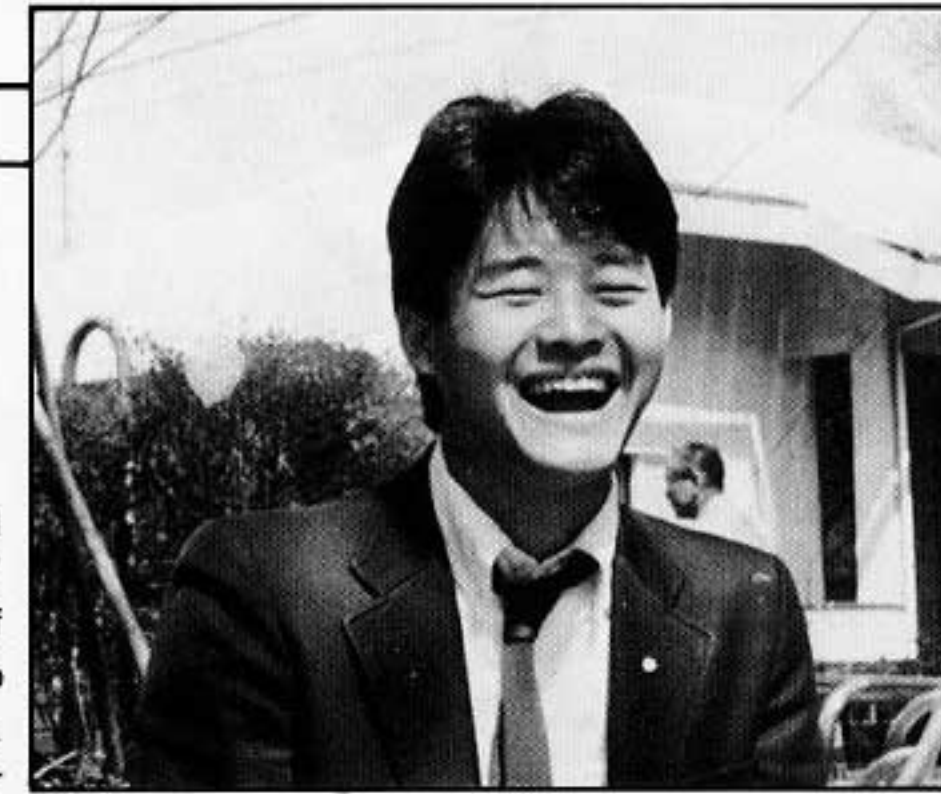

Dear Ben,

You were an outstanding artist. Your drawings of us are very good and we agree that you did a good job. This showed that you did something for the forward. We are sure that someday you will be able to print and develop pictures properly without making any mistakes. Thank you for always coming a long way

—Forward Staff—

Ass't Photographer & Art Director

Dear Ichiro,

Your habitual saying "hayaku kaette netēyo" frustrated all of us. Of course we want to do so but we have work to do. Though, at first the editor had to re—do many of your layouts, by the end you were able to make something "matomo." We know that you weren't that much of a layouter, but you were a good driver. Thanks for going down to buy lunch and dinner so many times. Hope you'll succeed at Mount Union College.

—Forward Staff—

Layouter

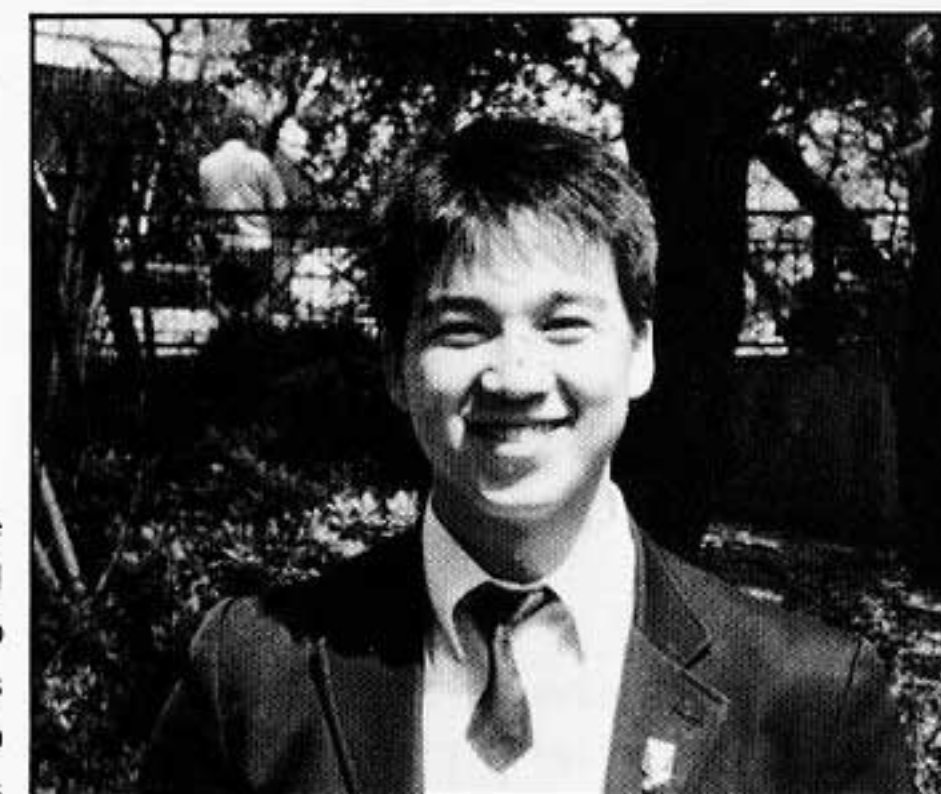

Dear Hironori,

In the beginning you were an excellent and prolific pair with the layout editor but you were a very busy and active man. You were the only one who participated in all three sports — tennis, soccer and baseball. Notwithstanding this fact, you didn't come enough. You came to help out when you felt like it. As little as you came, when you were here, we enjoyed your jokes and bright character and it was always a relief to see you.

—Forward Staff—

Ass't Layout Editor

Dear Kenji,

Probably you were the only one roaming around the forward room with no work. It is true due to this fact that you didn't do much, but you always showed your willingness by saying "Give me some work" The "onigiri" and "hot ocha" you brought were very delicious and always welcomed. Though you spent most of the time eating, disturbing, and making our editor neurotic, your existence was always joyful. Good luck in your coming years.

—Forward Staff—

All-Rounder

Dear Yoshimitsu,

Thank you for your irresponsible work. You were originally the layout editor but we think it was too hard for you. You were "jamamono" according to the ads layouter. You probably will agree with us that it was a big mistake you joined the staff. The only noticeable thing you did was that you tried to help out at the end of the year, but it was too late, there wasn't any work left. We all are most sincerely sorry for your chipped finger. We hope that you won't enter the "yakuza" business because of this accident.

*If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings,
And never breathe a word about your loss:
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them "Hold on!"*

*If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings — nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much:
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And — which is more — you'll be a Man, my son!*
